Multiple Honors Go To York County Berkshire Breeders

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

RED LION (York Co.) — First came a national boar title. Then came a national director position.

And now they have a hog going to "college."

The national hog breeding spotlight is focusing its shine on young hog breeders Beth and Greg Innerst, Deer Road, Red Lion. But national recognition of their winning Berkshire bloodlines is a result of what the Innersts have been working and breeding toward for several years.

Greg Innerst bought his first Berkshire pig as an FFA member, whose family had raised strictly commercial hogs. Though not his initial first-choice of breed, the pair of Berkshires he acquired fell within the price range he could afford for project animals as a fledgling vo-ag student.

Loyalty to the sleek black hogs with erect ears and the classic six white "points" — on tail, snout and feet — has carried over since Innerst's vo-ag days. Though he worked on hog operations outside

Troy Fair Livestock Auction Tops $27,794

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

TROY (Bradford Co.) – Buyers from throughout the area flocked to the annual Troy Fair Youth Livestock auction to bid on 43 hogs, eight steers, and 15 lambs, and contribute $27,794 to the youth who raised them and the 4-H and FFA programs.

Throughout the day, several buyers opted to resell the animals they purchased back to the 4-H and FFA program, with the second money going toward the youth scholarship fund. A total of $2844.60 was raised by the sale of animals. In addition, Stroehmann Bakery of Horsham and Sayre, presented a check to the 4-H program in the amount of $1,200 to be used for 4-H program purposes.

With an average price of $.87

Ag Progress Issue Next Week

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — The Penn State research farm, known as the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center, is again preparing for the thousands of visitors expected to attend the annual Ag Progress Days scheduled for August 13-15. The center is located nine miles southwest of State College on Route 45. More than 300 exhibits, featuring the latest goods and services and state-of-the-art technology in field machinery demonstrations and research projects, will be part of the show.

Next week Lancaster Farming will publish the annual Ag Progress Issue that features the schedule of events, messages from exhibitors, and features about the show. In addition in this current issue, to help you plan your visit, see page A36 for an early review of the daily schedule and a layout of the grounds.

Trucklot buying activity continued mixed and irregular. Offerings varied, but for the most part were at least adequate to satisfy current buyer needs. Retail and distributive movement was described as boring for a first of the month. Best interest centered around attractive promotional activity on boneless skinless breasts. The market tone was cautiously steady.

Delmarva Broiler

JULY 31, 1996

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds increased slightly, but remained no better than moderate. Offerings were fully adequate. Live supplies were moderate, instances heavy; weights were mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were moderate to heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 59 to 73 cents Trade sentiment was steady. In the parts complex, boneless skinless breasts and leg quarters were in good balance. Bone-in breasts and particularly wings were noted as available and slow in clearing.

National Egg Market

Prices were unchanged. The market tone remained generally steady with the West Coast still fully steady for large. Demand was fair to good, best where features where planned or in progress, and into vacation areas. On the West Coast, large sized supplies were short from local production and spotty from the Midwest, but elsewhere, large sizes were usually adequate or available. Jumbos were seasonally tight, and mediums remained adequate to ample, and usually surplus. Breaking stock prices were unchanged to higher, while supplies were adequate to instances barely adequate, and plants needing eggs often purchased surplus light eggs from grading channels. Light type hen offerings remained adequate for the slow and unaggressive demand.

E. PA & NJ Poultry

Majority prices were unchanged from last week. The market tone was generally steady. Offerings from production areas were tight to instances adequate, and as a result, several plants planned reduced slaughter schedules for this week. Demand was light to moderate.

ST. JOSEPH, MO

Wheat bids finished mixed with nothing substantial to move trade in either direction. Corn bids were also mixed with support stemming from overnight export orders and continued favorable growing weather limiting gains. Soybeans were supported by fund buying on the board and a weaker US dollar. Wheat mixed. Corn mixed. Sorghum 3 to 7 cents lower. Soybeans mostly 3 to 12 cents higher. The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

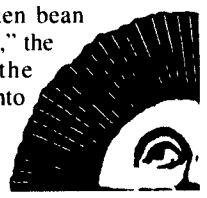
AUGUST 5-11, 1996

NATIONAL SMILE WEEK.

DOG DAYS END

August 11 signals the end of the 40-day period of Dog Days, named for the Dog Star, Sirius, the brightest and one of the closest in the constellation Canis Major. Dog Days are traditionally a period of hot and sultry weather, and various weather rhymes have been associated with them A warm August is thought by some folklorists to predict a long and snowy winter, but whatever the weather in August, it's said to be echoed in the following February. Farmers rely on August sunshine to ripen the grapes The summer thunderstorms are thought to hasten bean growth "Dunder do gally the beans," the old-timers say, meaning that the thunderstorms frighten the beans into growth spurts.



Soon hot, soon cold.

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ For a cooling drink, try hot ginger tea or a summertime switchel (lemonade with ginger).

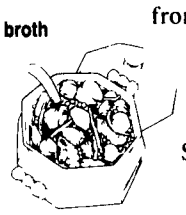
CHINESE CHICKEN STEW

- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon chili powder
- 1/2 teaspoon powdered ginger
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 scallions, chopped with green tops
- 3 pounds skinned chicken breasts
- 2 cups chicken broth
- 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms
- 1/2 cup fresh snow peas, sliced into slivers



Make a marinade of the first 6 ingredients Coat chicken well and chill for 1 hour. In a large skillet, bring broth to a boil. Add chicken, cover, reduce heat, and simmer about 1 hour, until chicken is tender and falls from the bone. Remove bones. Five minutes before serving, add mushrooms and snow peas to simmer. Serve over rice

Makes 6 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

Dog Days bright and clear, indicate a happy year. But when accompanied by rain, for better times our hopes are vain.

If your ears are ringing, look for a change in the weather.

If the frogs are piping in the evening, it's a sign of a clear day to come.

OPINION

If working in agriculture qualified farmers for certain Olympic events what type of competitions can you envision? Perhaps hay bale throwing, tractor road racing or machinery lifting come to mind. We might all list fence hurdling, animal herding, or even riflery or archery as potential sports in which farmers can make our country proud.

With 39 people losing their lives in Pennsylvania in 1995, Deborah Webb, Extension agronomy agent in Union County suggests we look at agricultural Olympics in a different light. Why not break a world record for the least amount of farm accidents in the United States? Farmers could condition their minds and bodies for this event by doing hundreds of repetitions such as replace safety shields, replace safety shields, replace safety shields.

When farmers participate in marathon work sessions during planting and harvesting seasons they would prepare for the contest knowing their physical limitations, planning their safety strategy, conserving their energy and making their move at the right time. No Olympian, no farmer wants to "hit the wall" where they are physically and mantally numb and either make serious mistakes or cannot continue.

We do not send our children into the sports arena unprotected and untrained. Farm children need to train to live and play on the farm by exercising caution and practicing safe habits until they know the routines in their sleep!

Farm parents could act as coaches and spotters as their older children take on more responsibilities. Children develop new "gymnastic" skills while driving a tractor, operating machinery, thinking and reacting to changing situations and topography — all at the same time. Parents need to develop that split second reaction time in their children and not let them try the risky moves until the children are mentally and physically ready for the challenge.

The best part of all the training for the Olympics is the moment you become a champion. Yet Olympic gold medals can be lost or won in a single moment. There are no guaruntees. The most an athlete can do after a lost opportunity is regroup and hope for better circumstances in the next competition. A farm accident can also happen in a moment. What can a farmer or child do if in that moment they are hurt or killed? The opportunity to work in the farm arena would not come around again. Train and practice to be a SAFETY champion — think, go slow, make careful decisions. Are the two ears of corn stuck in the unloader worth your arm? Are the two minutes saved by stepping over the PTO worth the loss of your arm, your life? Part of an athlete's consolation is knowing they gave everything they had to their event. Farmers who make safety their main goal will also know that they have given their all to protect themselves and their family from serious injury.

Some accidents will happen but with awareness, planning and training, the accidents will be less frequent and less severe. Let us all be a fan of farm sefety and help to break the world record for Pennsylvania together.

Now Is The Time

To Handle Milk Properly

Milk is a very nutritious food, not only for us, but also for spoilage organisms.

Glenn Shirk, extension dairy agent, reminds us to help preserve the goodness of milk by remembering the three Cs — clean, cool, and covered.

Milk needs to be cooled down very quickly after milking and held at 35 to 38 degrees F. until it is picked up by the tank truck. For milk to cool down quickly, the compressor must be working efficiently.

In hot weather the efficiency of compressors decrease. To help the cooling process, Shirk offers the following suggestions:

- Be sure compressors have a good air supply to replace the hot air given off by the compressor.
- Use precoolers to lower the temperature of milk and reduce the workload on the compressor.
- Install a larger compressor. This may be necessary if you increase milking rates and the flow rate to the tank.

To Identify Corn Rootworm Beetle

Corn rootworm beetles are beginning to feed on corn silks and tassels.

The adult western corn rootworm beetle is ¼ inch long or about half the size of the common lightning bug and are shaped somewhat like the lightning bug. When adults first emerge from the ground, the beetles are tan or green in color.

Within a short period of time, the western rootworm beetles develop three dark stripes on their wings. Many of them will look dark brown or black in color rather than striped. The adults are very active and fly when disturbed.

The other rootworm beetle of concern is the northern. The northern rootworm beetle is green in color. If you do not find the adult beetle, you may see symptoms of the larvae or worm stage of the insect and the damage it did to the corn.

The damage from the larvae is often seen as a "gooseneck plant." This "goose necking" is caused when the larvae feeds on the roots. As a result of the root feeding or pruning, the plant falls over when any wind blows. When the plant tries to grow up toward the sun, a "gooseneck" is formed. This root feeding is the real damage done by the insect, but it is not noticeable until it is too late to do anything about it.

To Scout Corn Fields For Root Worm Adults

Corn growers should be checking their corn fields from now through mid-August for adult rootworm beetles. You only need to check fields that will remain in corn next year.

Rootworms are only a problem if the field is planted in corn in succeeding years.

You need to determine how many fields have adult beetles, which species they are, and how many beetles there are per plant. When the number of adult western beetles is one or more per plant or two or more adult northern beetles per plant and the field will be planted in corn next year, a soil insecticide should be applied to that field at planting time next year.

DO YOU KNOW THIS TUNE?
August 4, 1996

Background Scripture:
Psalms 40
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 36:5-12

Yesterday, my wife and I went to a church outside Dallas where a ministerial friend of ours was holding his last service before retiring. He made it an informal service, most of it composed of poetry and songs that he had written across the years to express his Christian faith and commitment. It was a compelling testimony and very effective in communicating the gospel of Jesus Christ.

The service made me realize that we don't give enough time and space to personal testimony in our congregational and community life. Often the best way to convey the gospel is a matter of telling His story through our stories. I realize that many of us are shy of talking about God in our own lives, but we ought to encourage and help people to at least share with others what God means in their own lives. We are not all called to preach and teach, but we are all called to witness to what God has done for and with us.

In the 40th Psalm, the Psalmist has experienced help from God — probably healing from a serious illness — and he has shared this wonderful experience with others: "I have told the glad news of deliverance in the great congregation; . . . I have spoken of thy faithfulness, and thy salvation" (40:9,10).

TELLING OTHERS

The Psalmist is not expounding on the scriptures or propounding a theology. He is simply telling others what he experienced. "I waited for the Lord; he inclined to me and heard my cry . . ." (40:1,2a). He waited and trusted in God and his waiting and trusting were justified when God healed him. What did he discover for himself and others as well? "Blessed is the man who makes the Lord his trust . . ." (40:4).

There are millions of us who have experienced pretty much what the Psalmist experienced, who have put our trust in God and then have found, after much patience, that the Lord has saved us. As a preacher I have had lots of opportunity to speak of what God has done for me in my sermons and lessons — and I have, although, in reflection, not nearly as often as I might. There have been far more of God's "wondrous deeds" than I have spoken of even in my sermons, lessons and writings.

Many years ago — 45 if I count correctly — I wrote a hymn that expressed in some measure what God had done for me. It never found its way into any hymn books, but it was popular in some youth camps and in one of my congregations and apparently was found helpful by a number of people. Now I regret that I didn't more often put my testimony to music, so that I could say with the Psalmist: "He put a new song in my mouth, a song of praise to our God" (40:3).

A PECULIAR TURN

If you read Psalm 40 you will note that it takes a peculiar turn. It starts with a ringing testimony to God's faithfulness, but then ends with a plea for more help. "Be pleased, O Lord, to deliver me!" he cries, "O Lord, make haste to help me!" (40:13). Whereas the help he received previously had probably been healing of a serious physical disease, this time he speaks of evils "without number" that have encompassed him and complains that "my iniquities have overtaken me" (40:12). There are also detractors who torment him.

Despite the exuberant note on which the psalmist began, he ends it with these anxious words: "Thou art my help and my deliverer, do not tarry, O my God!" (40:17b).

So, is he a man of faith or a man of anxiety? Both, it seems to me. Like many of us, he has personally witnessed the manifest steadfast love of God, but he also faced new trials and tribulations. Just as we do.

Does his "new song" of both salvation and anxiety sound familiar to you? It should, for we could sing right along with him.

Leave the farm for a day and come have fun with Agway during the Ag Progress Days. We've got a whole new look, making our display more informative (and fun!) than ever for the entire family. Here's just a sampling of what we have planned for you:

SEE NEW TECHNOLOGY:

- GPS mapping
- biotech seed enhancements
- computerized ration balancing
- water treatment innovations
- energy conservation

LEARN ALL ABOUT:

- protecting your farm assets with long-term care insurance
- ideal heifer size/structure at our live Payback 24 heifer exhibit

HAVE FUN:

- free refreshments and country-style entertainment
- weed identification contests
- feed ingredient identification contests

PRIZES:

- Everything from farm seed, field mapping and diesel fuel to a Caribbean cruise!
- Farm youngsters can even win a registered Holstein calf!

Your farm, your way. AGWAY

If you are unable to attend submit your name and address to Agway Inc PO Box 3271 Syracuse NY 13220 All entries must be received by Aug 14 1996 No purchase necessary Odds of winning dependent upon number of entries One entry per person Agway Inc employees their families advertising agency and dealers are not eligible to win Eligibility restrictions apply to the winner of the registered Holstein calf Transportation cost to and from the nearest major airport meals enroute and personal expenses are to be paid by winner Winners assume all tax liability

Future Cooperative Leaders Gain Experience At Conference

ALTOONA (Blair Co.) — Cooperative education, leadership development and young adult fellowship were the benefits for the 52 young cooperative members that participated in the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives (PCC) Young Leader Conference at the Allenberry Resort in Boiling Springs, PA, from July 8-10.

Highlighting the 3-day conference was a keynote presentation by nationally known speaker, Ronald Eberhard of the Business & Estate Planning Services. Eberhard addressed both relationship and business concerns in two separate workshops. In the first, he spoke of the importance of dreams and common goals in farm family/business relationships. Using examples from over 30 years of working with farm families, he stressed the importance of communication in both presentations. In his second workshop, Eberhard provided sound advice on preparing a written business agreement among the farm family, including estate planning issues. He was sponsored by Nationwide Insurance.

In addition to Eberhard's presentation, attendees also participated in workshops targeting cooperative basics and media communications. Robert Cohen, Region Manager for Volunteers for Overseas Cooperative Assistance, used games, lectures and group activities to illustrate cooperative principles. Patricia Stoup, Director of Communications and Education for Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers, challenged the audience with a variety of role playing experiences to help them better relate to the public and media on tense industry issues.

Participants also felt privileged to hear dinner presentation speaker William Perry with Milk Marketing, Inc., who talked about the fast pace of change in agriculture and the importance of cooperatives and creative marketing strategies.

The young cooperative members also participated in round table discussions with cooperative leaders and demonstrated cooperative principles through skits produced and performed by the participants.

Region leaders that assisted with the 1996 conference included conference chair couple, Robert and Jennifer Baughman, Townville; Joe and Yvonne Garber, Southeast Region; Gary and Darlene Youngs, Western Region; Glenn and Kathy Jo Pugh, South Central Region; and Steve and Sue Neff, Northern Region.

Conference participants and their cooperative sponsors are as follows. From the Southeast region of the state, those attending were: John and Jennifer Wanner from Narvon, sponsored by Genex Cooperative, Inc. Dale and Martha Hershey of Ronks, sponsored by Sire Power, Inc.; Dan and Rhonda Cutts of Tabernacle, NJ, sponsored by Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc.; Aaron Ray and Virginia Zimmerman of Lititz, sponsored by Genex Cooperative, Inc.; and Dave and Beth Rice of Kempton, sponsored by Atlantic Dairy Cooperative.

From the Northern Region of the state were Allen McLain and Karen Hamilton of Moscow, sponsored by Dairylea Cooperative.

From the Western region those that attended included: John and Cathy Dice from New Castle, sponsored by Genex Cooperative, Inc.; Stephen and Patricia Lytle of Conneautville, sponsored by Penn West Farm Credit; Art and Terry Williams of Fairview, sponsored by Milk Marketing, Inc.; Vinton Smith and Sharon Cowdery from Greenville, sponsored by Agway, Inc.; David and Kathleen Maas from North East, sponsored by National Grape Cooperative and Michael and Junia Isiminger of Union City, sponsored by Milk Marketing, Inc.

In attendance representing the South Central region of the state were: Clyde and Pamela Fogelsanger from Orrstown, sponsored by Atlantic Dairy Cooperative; Marvin and Linda Long of Greencastle, Reduce the pain of early season powdery mildew and other diseases, and put more grain in the bin. Plant seed treated with Baytan fungicide.

No other seed treatment can match the performance of Baytan against early season powdery mildew. Baytan is also effective against a broad spectrum of seedborne, soilborne and foliar diseases - including smuts, leaf rust and stripe rust.

By protecting against disease attack, Baytan promotes a healthier root system and healthier, more vigorous plants. You'll see thicker stands and increased tillering. And best of all, better yields; in over a decade of yield trials, Baytan 30 has out-performed untreated seed by an average of 5 bushels an acre.

This year don't let your wheat suffer from the pain and stress of early season powdery mildew. Ask your seed supplier for seed treated with Baytan.

KIMBERTON (Chester Co.) — The Chester County 4-H Dairy Roundup was recently held at the Kimberton Fair Grounds.

Twenty-one 4-H'ers are to be taking 57 animals to the second Southeast 4-H District Dairy Show at the Schuylkill County Fairgrounds on August 23. Five other members had already shown at the first district show held in Lebanon.

Becky Nolan, Pottstown, won the top two honors in the Ayrshire breed when her junior 2-year-old cow, S & M Ayr IRS Opal, was named senior and grand champion, and S & M Ayr IRS Ola, her senior 3-year-old, was chosen for the reserve senior and reserve grand champion.

Tom Smith, formerly with Atlantic Breeders and from Palmyra, judged type for the Brown Swiss, Guernseys and Jerseys. After many years absence from the 4-H Roundup, the Brown Swiss breed had five entries.

Julie Sollenberger, Spring City, won twice when her summer yearling, French Creek Diamond Cranberry was named junior champion and, French Creek Diamond Ann, her fall calf, was selected as the reserve junior champion.

The showing and fitting contest, always a closely contested event, was judged by Nancy Toms, Mifflintown, and Donald Harwood of Shippensburg.

Champion first-year showmanship honors went to Robert Petrovich, Cochranville. Misti Gawrys, Pottstown, was the reserve champion first-year showperson.

For the first year fitting honors, the judges also chose Robert and Misti for champion and reserve champion, respectfully.

In the junior division, under 14 years old, Erin Brobst, Spring City, was named junior champion showman/fitter and Meredith Baily, West Chester took the reserve ribbon.

The senior division saw Tarik Gaffney, Downingtown win the championship and Amy Hewitt, Spring City, close behind taking the second slot.

Both Nancy Toms and Donald Harwood complimented the 4-H members on the excellent way they prepared and presented their animals in the show ring and offered them some suggestions to improve their skills.

There was also a large pre-4-H showing event for youngsters under 8 years old. The show concluded with a showmanship class of 4-H alumni, 4-H parents and 4-H leaders.

There was a lot of cheering from the audience when Maggie Wertz, Downingtown, narrowly edged out the other adults.

The 4-H program received considerable financial support from businesses and individuals this year with over $1,400 being raised through paid advertisements in the catalog. These funds are used to support the program for the year.

Pa.DHIA Plans For Events

DAVID A. BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — On July 16 the Pa. DHIA field staff met in the Holiday Inn at State College to plan for upcoming events such as Empire Farm Days, Ag Progress Days and the fall technicians' conferences.

It was decided to put booths at both the upcoming trade shows, Empire Farm Days and Ag Progress Days. Emphasis will be placed on marketing the three major departments, field service, laboratory service and processing service.

These services make Pa. DHIA unique in the fact that it makes the cooperative the only stand-alone service in the country that offers all three services under one roof. This allows for better communication and quicker service to the membership.

This year's fall technicians' conferences will be held in State College Oct. 14-18, at the Days Inn, State College.

Each of the five separate region technicians will be required to attend the conferences on an appointed day that week.

An agenda is being prepared at this time.

These conferences are being held in order to conform with quality certification through National DHIA which requires education of employees. The fall conference allows time for each technician to receive the yearly competency exam.

Pa. DHIA continues to serve membership in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia and Missouri. Please feel free to contact Pa. DHIA at 1-800-344-8378 if we can assist with your dairy operation.

Shick Covers Four Counties

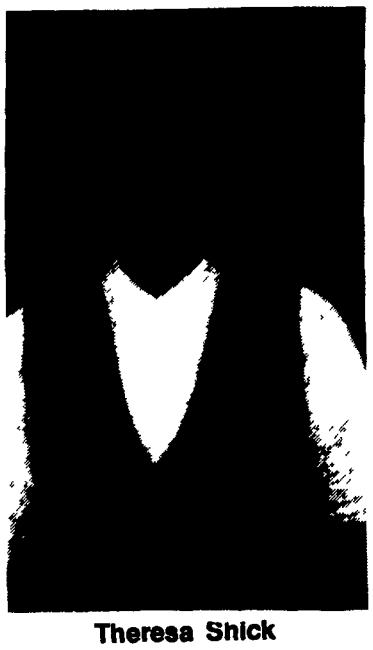
STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Recently Theresa Shick of Brookville was hired by Pa. DHIA to serve membership throughout the Clarion, Jefferson, Clearfield and Venango county areas.

Theresa is responsible for 32 herds which consists of 1,900 cows. In the past, Theresa has worked as a herdsperson on two different dairy farms which included her family farm.

Flexibility of scheduling and visiting with dairymen are two attributes that she likes most about the job of a technician.

Some hobbies enjoyed by Theresa include training and showing dogs and horses.

Please feel free to contact Pa. DHIA at 1-800-344-8378 if we can assist with your dairy operation.



Theresa Shick

Fitch Is Tioga County Technician

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Former Tioga County dairy princess Laura Fitch of Roaring Branch, is the newest member of the Pa. DHIA team serving Tioga County.

Other past dairy experience includes growing up and working on the family dairy farm, Four-Wynds Farm. In the past, Laura participated in numerous leadership organization such as 4-H, F.B.L.A., Holstein Association and the Youth Education Association. She held the office of president in most of these organizations.

Laura enjoys helping dairymen to better manage their herds. We congratulate Laura on her new appointment as technician to the membership of Tioga County.

Pa. DHIA continues to serve membership in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia and Missouri. Please feel free to contact Pa. DHIA at 1-800-344-8378 if we can assist you with your dairy operation.

Susan Lander

Lander Is Franklin County Tech

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Susan Lander of Mercersburg recently began servicing herds for Pa. DHIA in the Franklin County area.

Sue worked as a herdsperson for over 2½ years upon completion of high school and attending Wilson College.

Sue's circuit consists of 18 herds. In the future she plans on building up the number of herds. "Working closely with dairymen to improve milk production and improve the dairy herd as a whole," Sue said, is what she enjoys most about her job.

Some hobbies enjoyed by Sue are biking, camping, gardening and hiking.

Please feel free to contact Pa. DHIA at 1-800-344-8378 if we can assist with your dairy operation.

Know Feeder Genetics To Improve Bottom Dollar

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Knowing the genetic makeup of the feeder cattle you buy can translate into better dollars earned at auction time — if you follow good feed management strategies.

And efforts are under way to study the process of cattle grading and selection more thoroughly to streamline cattle "pools" and provide buyers with lots that can bring in the better dollars.

Those were the messages heard Wednesday night at the third annual Penn-State sponsored Feeder Cattle Grading Workshop at the New Holland Sales Stables.

"It's more important today to know where the cattle come from," said Dr. Phil Osborne, West Virginia University, who spoke to more than 120 cattle feeders and agri-industry representatives at the workshop.

Other experts who spoke at the workshop indicated that it's like throwing away money by trying to get results from cattle that should be separated before going to the feedlot from more potentially higher producing cattle.

Producers who want the best rate of gain and feed efficiency (closely linked genetic aspects of cattle) should obtain breeding information about the cattle before the sale. Already, extension experts and department of agriculture officials in several states are compiling such information before the beginning of special sales.

One of those sales, the Quality Assurance Sales from West Virginia University, brings performance data from individual herds into their grading and selection before feeder cattle are sold. This information, according to Osborne, is compiled into breeding program databases from the university.

Dwayne O'dell, West Virginia Department of Agriculture (WVDA) cattle grader, said that grading standards using USDA information have been in place since 1979. Most cattle going to processing in the feedlots in West Virginia finish in a range from 1,000-1,200 pounds (M, or medium, to L, or large frame), although a small (S) frame size is sometimes used. But "the average kill weights are 1,170 pounds," said O'dell.

The final finish weight is significantly dependent on management strategies.

The finish weight will depend "on how you match cattle with feed resources," he told the producers.

What special cattle "pool" sales do is segregate, for market purposes, the individual feeder animals (ranging from 600-800 pounds) before sale. Cattle that are separated before the regular auction are unthrifty, physically defective, exhibit certain diseases (loss of sight or active pinkeye problems), or those with 3- to 4-inch horns.

An evaluation worksheet is used in the process to match distinct groups of cattle that show similarities in frame scores and live weight, in addition to potential attributes related to expected average daily gain (ADG), days on feed, a muscle score, and estimated final weight. During the workshop, those who attended compared notes on how they would judge 10 different cattle in terms of estimated live weight, frame score, and other factors.

The first animal, an all black steer, weighed exactly 730 pounds (estimates from those attending put the weight about 750-780 pounds), with an M+ frame score, with a muscle score of about 1.5. The cattle was a "pretty decent steer" said O'dell, which should finish in the 1,250-1,275 pound range, giving a carcass from 625-800 pounds. In last year's sales, O'dell indicated the graders got "60 percent of those within 30 pounds" of estimated weight.

Knowing the genetic makeup of the feeder cattle you buy can translate into better dollars earned at auction time if you follow good feed management strategies. "It's more important today to know where the cattle come from," said Dr. Phil Osborne, West Virginia University, front and center, who spoke to more than 120 cattle feeders and agri-industry representatives at the workshop. Front, from left, Dr. John Comerford, Penn State beef specialist; Osborne; and Dwayne O'dell, West Virginia cattle grader. In back is Chet Hughes, Lancaster livestock agent.

The second steer was a black baldy, graded an M2 with a muscle score of 2. It had a much larger frame than the first calf, with a bigger head, with an estimated weight of 740 pounds (actual weight 755 pounds). The third, a brown steer, was more weighty and older, with an actual weight of 785 pounds but with an S2 score. Muscle score was 1.2. The steer would finish only in the upper 900 of the weight range, which would put him out of the board sale, according to Osborne.

Dr. John Comerford, Penn State extension beef specialist, indicated that it is important to look at the economic realities when having to manage these types of steers. Those who want to push these types of older, small framed feeders to heavier kill weights are literally "throwing money down a rathole," according to Comerford.

"It takes 13 pounds of dry matter for every one pound of gain after 1,000 pounds of liveweight," Comerford indicated. It doesn't benefit holding onto the animals beyond the 1,200 pound range, trying to get additional gain.

With all the grading details used to help keep databases on the pooled cattle sales, even a "temperament score" could someday be a possibility to help buyers watch per pound, the steers brought in a total of $9174.90. Topping the sale was the grand champion steer raised by Raenna Abell. Her 1,348-pound animal commanded a price of $1.05 per pound from Hometown Auto of Vestal.

Following close behind at $.90 per pound was the reserve grand champion steer raised by Robert Gilliland. His 1,344-pound steer was purchased by P&C Foods.

One Steer was donated back to the 4-H Scholarship fund by Columbia Cross Roads Equipment. That steer raised $942 for the fund.

Among the 15 lambs sold at auction, Kendra Moore's grand champion brought the highest price at $2.10 per pound. Her 134-pound lamb was purchased by Northern Tier Real Estate.

The reserve grand champion lamb raised by Geoff Powell brought $1.60 per pound and was purchased by P&C Foods. That lamb weighed 102 pounds.

The lambs averaged nearly 1.60 per pound. Two lambs were resold for the benefit of the 4-H scholarship fund, bringing in $330. Troy Fair Association and Columbia Cross Roads Equipment donated those lambs. Total revenue brought in by the lambs was $2912.40.

Hogs were the final animals sold, averaging 1.40 per pound on the 43 animals, seven of which were resold raising $1,571 for the 4-H scholarship program. Hatfield, SPE Equipment Inc., Don White and Columbia Crossroads Equipment donated the hogs back to the 4-H program.

The grand champion was snatched by Hatfield for $2.50 per pound. Justin Ford raised the 240-pound champion.

P&C Foods was the high bidder on the 226-pound reserve champion hog, which brought $1.75 per pound.

The hogs grossed a total of $15,706.70.

Distinguished guests of the day included Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius, Sen. Roger Madigan, and Rep. Matthew Baker, who stopped to wave at the auction participants.

Volunteer auctioneer Bob Shaylor and ringman Bob Garrison took the bids on the animals, while county extension director Jake Guffey kept the sale moving.

Hoover Wins 4-H Chain Calf

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — Nelson Ebersole is probably more widely known in his Lebanon County community for his Annville-based real estate and auctioneering businesses.

What many may not know is that he also has had a life-long interest in Holsteins and currently has a farm with about 30 registered Holsteins.

On Tuesday, in conjunction with the Lebanon Area Fair youth dairy day activities, on behalf of his two businesses he presented a registered Holstein to the winning youth of an essay contest Ebersole made possible.

Judged by an independent committee, the contest was set up by Ebersole to create an opportunity like the one he benefitted from as a youth.

He said he wanted to return the favor. See, when he was young, he won a similar contest.

He said that when he was 12, he worked all summer on an uncle's farm milking cows, baling hay, hauling manure, etc., and with the money earned, bought a Holstein calf and enough feed for the calf.

That calf died.

Distraught, but not discouraged, he entered an essay contest for a chain calf that was offered by the Northern Lebanon FFA chapter.

A chain calf contest is one in which the recipient of the chain calf raises that calf, breeds it back and then donates the first heifer calf back in order to hold another contest, and continue to provide the opportunity to own and breed cattle.

If no heifers are born, the bull calves are sold and the money used to purchase a heifer to be offered as a contest calf.

The gift keeps on giving.

Bradley Hoover holds the halter of his prize 4-H chain calf while sponsors Elsie and Nelson Ebersole, of Ebersole Auctioneering and Suburban Realty, present it to Hoover.

Ebersole said he contributed the calf Tuesday because, "I wanted to give back something to the community because of how good the Lord has been to me and I hope it will start somebody else in the Holstein business."

In his own case, Ebersole won the Northern Lebanon FFA essay contest and the calf was an Osborndale Ivanhoe daughter, which Holstein breeders know turned out to be an excellent pedigree.

"And that's how I got interested in Holsteins," he said.

After high school he worked for Atlantic Breeders Cooperative as an artificial insemination technician and serviced more than 25,000 cows. Later his auctioneering business grew, as well as his Suburban Realty business, both located along Main Street in Annville.

He approached Lebanon 4-H leaders about his plan for a contest calf and with a go-ahead, he purchased Valley-Pond Farm Mark Ann, born Oct. 10, 1995, from Hershey Bare, a local dairyman who has helped many times with community agriculture projects and programs.

Ebersole raised the calf to its current age. This one shouldn't die.

Seven youth responded to the contest and essays were to be about why the youth wanted the calf, and how they would take care of it.

While a committee made the final selection, Ebersole said he looked at all the essays and that all the applications were "wonderful."

The winner was Bradley Hoover, son of Reid and Dianne Hoover, Lebanon.

A broadly smiling Bradley seemed a little too excited to talk, though he said that, in brief, he wrote in his essay that he would take care of the calf and that he wanted to breed back an even better calf to pass along to the next guy (or girl).

Speakers Receive Top Honors

WESTMINSTER, Md. — Carroll County recently held its annual 4-H public speaking contest.

Ag Showcase Demonstrations Rained Out

The 16th annual ag showcase day held in conjunction with the Cecil County Fair ran into a downpour of rain Tuesday morning. So the highly anticipated field demonstrations of large farm equipment had to be cancelled at Fair Hill Farms across Rt. 273. The program on farm safety was brought to the grandstand at the fairgrounds.

Agriculture with 26 deaths per 100,000 workers is consistently near the top in work related fatalities and five times the average of all industries combined. Charles Wood of the Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute discussed how to recognize and avoid many of the potential farm-related hazards. Frank Muller, chief of the Cecil County's Emergency Management Services, reviewed the resources available in the county should a farm-related accident occur.

After lunch, served by the Farm Bureau Women, equipment company sponsors paraded their machinery before the grandstand and explained how their equipment worked. Later farmers were given the opportunity to test drive new tractor models on the hill where it was not quite so muddy.

Ag Showcase Day has become one of the priemier places for farmers to see new equipment of different makes, working side by side in the field. Equipment dealers and ag service providers who participate in makeing this event possible include: Ag Industrial Equipment Co.; Biggs, Inc.; W.N. Cooper and Sons; Ben Haines Equipment Co.; Hoober Equipment Company; and Mid-Atlantic Agri-Systems. Other supporting sponsors include: Agway; Central Maryland Farm Credit-Elkton; Hoffman Seeds-Scheeler's Service Center, and Southern States-Rising Sun. Trust Awards $29,000 Grant To Del Val

DOYLESTOWN (Bucks Co.) — Delaware Valley College has been awarded $29,000 in grant funding by the trustees of the W.W. Smith Charitable Trust for students on its Doylestown campus. This is the 19th consecutive year the trust has supported Delaware Valley College.

In addition to providing grant support to DelVal students at all grade levels, the W.W. Smith grant provides $5,000 for the W.W. Smith Scholarship prize, a special award given to one student in his or her senior year who has previously benefited from the trust's generosity. These awards will be presented in the fall semester to students for the 1996-1997 academic year.

"We deeply appreciate the trustee's decision to continue providing scholarship grant support for our students as well as continuing the W.W. Wmith Scholarship prize," said DelVal Interim President Dr. Joshua Feldstein. "This support is vital if our college is to continue to make higher education available to deserving students."

For more information on the W.W. Smith Awards to Delaware Valley College, contact Christopher S. Beadling, director of public relations, at (215) 489-2917.

E-Town Fair Receives Check

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Sen. Noah Wenger (R-36) and Rep. Tom Armstrong (R-98) recently presented a check for $9,850 from the State Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Fair Advisory Committee.

The money will be used to build a road and install asphalt at the Elizabethtown Fairgrounds.

"The Elizabethtown Fair is a tradition in Lancaster County," said Wenger. "If we want to keep it running well into the future, we have to make an investment in the fairgrounds to make sure they are well-maintained and up to date. This state money will help keep the fairgrounds in good condition."

Armstrong said the state supports agricultural fairs in an effort to educate the public about the importance of agriculture.

Penn State Dairy Science Club Wins National Honor

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The Penn State Dairy Science Club was recognized as the nation's outstanding chapter at the 1996 American Dairy Science Association annual meeting held recently at Oregon State University.

The award is based on club activities, participation in meetings and publications.

Following Penn State in the rankings were Virginia Tech in second and the University of Kentucky in third.

This represented Penn State's third national championship in four years and sixth overall.

Over the past year, Penn State added Jerseys to the Nittany Lion Fall Classic, introduced the Junior All-Breeds Convention, and restructured the Daily Exposition to include more events for consumers and non-agricultural students. Overall, the club focused its major activities on youth and consumer education.

In the undergraduate paper presentations, Kara Tussey, a senior in dairy and animal science from Huntingdon, placed first in the manufacturing division with her talk, "Light-Induced Flavors in Milk." Jennifer Vallimont, a junior Dairy and Animal Science major from Clearfield, placed second in the production division with her discussion, "The Effects of Grazing Systems on Herd Health."

Carrie Bryant, a senior dairy and animal science major from Honesdale, was elected president of the ADSA Student Affiliate Division after completing her term as second vice-president at the meeting.

She currently serves as Penn State Dairy Science Club president and Penn State Academic Assembly vice-president.

Club co-adviser Dale Olver was elected first-year adviser to the student affiliate.

Marel Raub, a May graduate in dairy and animal science from Duncannon, represented Penn State in the oustanding student competition, won by Libby Hupf from the University of Minnesota. Raub earlier was named Northeast Student Affiliate Oustanding Senior and is to begin law school at Dickinson College in September.

Overall, 12 undergraduate students and two advisers represented Penn State.

Students attending include Bryant, Tussey, Vallimont, Raub, Heidi Stephens, Jermyn; Nancy Kerr, Carmichaels; Aaron Harpster, Spruce Creek;Rachel Tanis, Centre Hall; Charles Houp, Oley; Howard Reyburn, Oxford; Joshua Harvatine, Thompson; and Michael Hix, Bernville.'Advisers Lawrence Muller and Dale Olver accompanied the group.

Maryland Holstein Picnic Set

NEW WINDSOR, Md. — The Maryland Holstein Association Inc. invites all Maryland dairy families to the Third Annual State Holstein Picnic Saturday, Aug. 10 at Windsor Manor Farm — home of State President Jason Myers, his wife Donna and their family — in New Windsor, Md.

The festivities will run from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Door prizes will be drawn throughout the day.

A meeting of the Junior members is scheduled at 11:30 a.m.

The free catered lunch at noon will feature barbecue beef and pork, baked beans, coleslaw, watermelon and — of course — ice cream.

At 1 p.m. young members and perhaps the young at heart will join in the fun of the "Cowlympics." Volleyball will also be featured.

Those who prefer less strenuous activity after a big lunch will enjoy a display of antique DeLaval milking equipment and memorabilia. Dr. Kevin McNew of the University of Maryland will be available to discuss dairy futures on the Coffee, Sugar and Cocoa Exchange and the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. Representatives of the National Holstein Association will also be on hand to answer questions and take comments from Maryland dairymen.

All members under 21 will be eligible to win a registered calf. The calf drawing — scheduled between 1:30 and 2 p.m. after the closing ceremonies of the "Cowlympics" — is sponsored by Select Sires and H.B. Duvall Inc. Both companies are the primary sponsors of this year's picnic.

Directions from Baltimore: Take I-695 north to Md. 140 toward Westminster. Follow 140 west through Westminster to a left at Md. 31 toward New Windsor. Follow Md. 31 to a right onto Old New Windsor Pike (near the Westminster stockyards). Continue for three miles. Windsor Manor will be on your right.

Directions from Frederick: Take I-70 east to Md. 75 north to Libertytown. Turn right on Md. 26 in Libertytown. Follow Md. 26 east to Md. 31 north. Go through the town of New Windsor. Take a left onto Old New Windsor Pike. Continue for a half-mile. Windsor Mannor is the first farm on the left.

Dairy farmers from across the state are invited to take a break from the hot summer sun and join in the picnic fun with their fellow dairy families.

WILL THE IRS INHERIT YOUR ESTATE?
We can help prevent the loss of your estate due to taxes
New York Life's Survivorship Whole Life policy was created to provide you and your spouse with life insurance coverage, and needed liquidity, when your estate taxes are due.
It works like this: When one spouse dies, the resulting estate tax can be deferred until after the death of the surviving spouse. At that time, the policy's proceeds become available, and can be used to help pay the usually heavy estate tax. In other words, New York Life makes the proceeds available when they"re needed the most.
You've worked hard all of your life, and shouldn't have to spend time worrying about what will happen to your estate. Call us for all the detaiis and let us show you why New York Life is The Company You Keep.

Aged Holstein Wins Supreme Title At Lebanon Area Fair

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — An aged registered Holstein, Loving Meadows Karealot, owned and bred by Jesse Bomgardner, of Ono, on Tuesday was named the supreme champion dairy animal of the Lebanon Area Fair.

The Bomgardner cow was a victor in the FFA division of the Holstein show, and the honor is another in a growing list of show ring achievements for the cow.

At that show, one of two qualifying district junior dairy shows offered in the area, there is no longer a distinction made between 4-H and FFA. However, that distinction is still being made at the Lebanon Area Fair.

Born Sept. 2, 1988, Bomgardner's Bridon Astro Jet-ET daughter was selected from among the grand champions of all five major breeds exhibited by youth at the Lebanon Area Fair.

Dale Olver, who is a dairy specialist with Penn State University College of Agricultural Sciences and in charge of the youth extension dairy activities for the state, was judge of the Ayrshire, Guernsey, and Jersey shows, as well as final decider for supreme champion.

Christine Gitt Wood, of Penn-Gate Holsteins in Littlestown, judged the youth Holstein and Brown Swiss shows. In explaining his choice for supreme, Olver said that he had discussed with Wood her observances of the grand champions she judged.

Of special consideration in making his selection, Olver said, was the fact that the frame of Karealot was so strong, and that she was in good shape after going through more calvings than two other contending cows.

As final contenders, Olver had picked out Alicia Mase's Brown Swiss, which was last year's Lebanon Area Fair supreme champion, and Daryl Maulfair's junior 2-year-old Ayrshire, along with Bomgardner's Karealot.

During the Ayrshire show, when Olver made Maulfair's Ayrshire the grand champion of the open and 4-H division shows, he gave her high praise.

Maulfair's Maulfair-Acres Festival D.J. was his first bred and owned animal. Olver said the first-calf cow was exceptional and that there is little if anything he would change about her. He said he wouldn't hesitate to take her to a national show.

Mase's Brown Swiss, Meadow Hill Jade Alice-ET, is also a bred and owned animal. Alice was also grand champion of both the open and 4-H divisions.

Olver said that all three could be supreme, but that in cases such as this, with a 2-year-old, a 4-year-old and a 7-year-old cow all being of comparable high quality, that he had to go with the cow that has had the most calvings.

During the selection process, the grand champions of both the 4-H and FFA divisions were allowed to enter in the selection for supreme champion. FFA entries normally aren't as numerous as 4-H entries, and in some breeds, the FFA champions weren't brought back into the ring.

Olver congratulated the youth on all the grand champions in the ring, praising the quality of animals presented and the depth of each show.

The selection of supreme champion was made Tuesday evening, after the shows ended by mid-afternoon.

At the Lebanon Area Fair, a contest was started several years ago that is designed to honor 4-H youth with dairy animals not only for show day excellence, but for their continued, everyday commitment to keeping records and caring for their animal.

The best bred and owned competition is a 50-point competition that weighs 10 points on the quality of the animal and the rest on the showing abilities and detail and depth of 4-H project book work of the exhibitor youth.

Olver said that Lebanon County's 4-H program is recognized around the state as being one of the best and this competition is an example of that.

The competition is also supported by the Lebanon Agway which provides $100 savings bonds for the top three place winners.

Daryl Maulfair won the competition, earning a total of 47 points. Second and third place was tie with 45 points each to Amy Habecker, of Palmyra, and past winner Amanda Martin, Lebanon.

Holstein

In the 4-H division Holstein show, Timothy Vail, Lebanon, showed his bred and owned senior 2-year-old Dalee-Bred Counselor Po to win senior and grand champion honors.

The 4-H reserve senior and grand champion Holstein was 4-year-old Weaverline Rambo Nan, owned by Melonica Kauffman, of Lancaster. A spring yearling heifer calf of Kauffman's Nan, M-DGK Astre Naoima, was named junior champion of the 4-H division.

The open division Holstein show of the Lebanon Area Fair was to be held after newspaper deadline, with more than 200 animals expected to be shown. The colored breed shows include all three divisions.

Ayrshire

Daryl Maulfair showed the open and 4-H senior and grand champion Ayrshire, while Shawn and Karen Hernley, of Lebanon, showed the open division reserve senior and reserve grand champion, 4-year-old Bonnie Brae Cinnamon.

Daryl's parents, Dale and Pattie, showed the junior champions of the open show. Pattie's Conebella Corben's Radiance, a winter yearling, was named junior champion, while Dale's spring yearling, Maulfair Acres Johnny Gilly was named reserve junior champion.

In the 4-H division, Daryl's sister Jennifer Maulfair showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion, also a junior 2-year-old, Masonic-Homes Welcome Rebecca. Jennifer also showed the reserve junior champion, a spring yearling, Maulfair-Acres Nampa Brittany.

The 4-H junior champion Ayrshire was a winter calf showed by Merritt Hernley.

Brown Swiss

In the Brown Swiss breed show, Alicia Mase's 4-year-old Alice won both the open and 4-H senior and grand champion titles.

Anthony Mase showed the 4-H junior champion, a fall calf Meadow Hill Jade Aubrie-ET, and the 4-H reserve junior champion, a spring calf Meadow Hill Jade Audrey-ET.

The FFA division senior and grand champion Brown Swiss was a dry 4-year-old cow, Meadow Hill Jade Alison, owned by Garrett Mase. The FFA reserve senior and reserve grand champion was an aged dry cow, Irons Boomster, owned by Karen Nolt, of Lebanon.

Garrett also showed the FFA junior champion, a fall heifer calf, Meadow Hill Jade Afton-ET, while Karen showed the reserve junior champion, a summer yearling, Country Path Marrietta.

All the Mase family champions, except for the reserve grand champion, were bred by Alicia.

Guernsey

Farm Field Meetings Aug. 6, 8

SUNBURY (Northumberland Co.) — The Northumberland County Conservation District, in cooperation with the Northumberland County Cooperative Extension and Farm Service Agency, has scheduled two farm field meetings for Aug. 6 and 8.

The Aug. 6 morning meeting will be held at the farm of George C. Richard on Rt. 487, Elysburg and the Ralpho Fish and Game Club, Elysburg. Beginning at 9 a.m. at the Richard farm, there will be a demonstration of a low cost, low maintenance, ground-driven, rolling tined aerator/cultivator used to eliminate compaction in the feeder root zone.

Also being demonstrated is a no-till vegetable transplanter, a subsurface tiller transplanter developed by Virginia Tech in 1992, which is capable of cutting through and successfully planting in heavy crop residues and sod with minimal soil disturbance. No-till transplanting of vegetable crops has been successfully demonstrated under a variety of conditions in Pennsylvania, from steep stony fields to rolling limestone soils, and has proven its value as a highly effective conservation and vegetable production system.

The meeting will then move to the Ralpho Fish and Game Club for the remaining agenda items, including "Nitrogen, Phosphorous, and Water Quality" by Don Fiesta, hydrologist with the Department of Environmental Protection's (DEP) Bureau of Land & Water Conservation (BLWC); update on the Water Quality Incentive Program (WQIP) by Eugene Sweigard, CED for the Farm Service Agency; Chesapeake Bay Program highlights and signup by George Phillips, NCCD bay technician and Rebecca Takacs, nutrient management specialist for the DEP; "Fly Control on the Farm" by Charles Pitts, entomologist from Penn State University; the Environmental Quality Incentive Program (EQIP) by Eugene Sweigard; and "Cleaning/Recycling of Pesticide Containers" by Jeff Mizer, Snyder County Cooperative Extension.

On Aug. 8, the evening meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the farm of Irvin Reynolds, approximately 2¼ miles west from Rt. 180 on Rt. 54.

Along with the demonstration of the above mentioned equipment, the meeting will also include a tour of the streambank fencing project installed on the Reynolds farm by project coordinator, Rebecca Takacs. The remaining topics to be presented include "Fly Control on the Farm" by Dave Bailey, Northumberland County Cooperative Extension; "Nitrogen, Phosphorous, and Water Quality" by Don Fiesta; Chesapeake Bay Program highlights and signup by George Phillips; and "Fate of Pesticides in the Environment" by Bob Taylor, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Both meetings have been approved by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture as an update training session for pesticide certification renewal. Private applicators will receive two credits (one core and one category) toward certification renewal for being present during all training topics on the agenda, and are asked to bring their applicator's license.

The meetings will close with door prizes and refreshments. The public is invited and encouraged to attend these meetings, which will be held rain or shine. For directions to either location or to receive a copy of the agenda and map, call the Northumberland County Conservation District at (717) 988-4224 or the Northumberland County Cooperative Extension at (717) 644-4455.

of the state and was out of the hog business for a period of time, Greg and Beth have remained faithful to a minority breed that is a fast-rising star in the pork export business.

For the past four years, their enthusiasm for Berks and their desire to stay updated with the breed industry has taken the Innersts and their daughters Lane, 11, and Jessica, 9, to the Berkshire breed's national type conference in Dubuque, Iowa, held in early July. Here, in the heart of the nation's hog belt, top breeders gather from across the nation for educational seminars, a show and a sale.

But it was the first time in 16 years that the Innersts participated as exhibitors in the type conference's national show and sale. And, though they traveled the farthest of the more than two dozen families showing at the type conference, the long-distance haul of their four entries paid off in a big way.

One of their homebreds, a January-born, 305-pounder, was named the champion boar overall of the show of 60-plus head. A long and solid-muscled youngster, the boar was described by judge Al Christian, Iowa State University, as "complete." In addition to his winning type, the champion registered a backfat measure of .87 and a WDA, or weight per day of age, of 1.61.

At the sale which followed, the Innersts' grand champion boar, sold for $2900 to Octagon Farms, Lacrosse, Wisconsin.

"He showed himself," claims Greg Innerst, recalling how the boar entered the ring with his head held proudly erect and paraded around the ring for the official. "He was bred on the basis of what I thought would work the best; we no longer have the boar that sired him so there won't be another one just like him."

"The pieces just fit together," grins Beth Innerst of the national win.

Also in the Innersts' show pens was a second homebred boar, one which had gone through the Penn State's meat evaluation testing program. That entry was chosen the champion tested boar and sold for $900 to Alllied Group International, a hog-production operation which exports high-quality pork to Japan.

Innersts' Berkshires also exhibited the third place market hog and took a fourth in the open gilt show. During the breed association's business meeting, Greg was elected to a three-year term on the national board of directors. Lane and Jessica were both finalists in the junior showmanship competition, with Lane ultimately selected one of two top winners in the junior age group.

Awards also went to fellow York County Berkshire breeder Arlie Cornbower of New Freedom, whose entries the Innersts hauled with theirs. Cornbower had champion purebred market hog and reserve champion crossbred on foot.

Then, just days after their success at the Berkshire conference, the Innersts were informed that a littermate to their national tested champion had been chosen for "hog college."

"Hog college" is a national honor recognized at the national barrow show, held annually in Austin, Minnesota. Numerous land-grant universities, including Penn State, conduct extensive evaluation testing programs. Each hog breed association selects best of its breed, based on nominations submitted via videotapes and test program statistics, to represent it at the national show. These "All-American" boars and gilts are exhibited in a lineup — known as "hog college row" — and are then paraded and sold during the national barrow show.

This year's national barrow show is the 50th, so the Innersts are especially thrilled that one of their homebreds will be representing the American Berkshire Association during the golden anniversary event. It runs concurrent with the York Fair, where the Innersts, including Lane and Jessica, plan to exhibit an extensive show string of open and youth class entries.

Greg and Beth maintain a herd of 12 to 15 breeding sows at their rural Red Lion farm, all purebred Berkshires except for one purebred Hampshire and a Hamp cross.

"We had to do something so the girls don't have to compete against each other at all the shows," explains Greg of their inclusion of Hampshires in the breeding herd.

"We are a minority breed," says Greg of the family's choice of pigs. "In the 1940s and '50s, Berkshires were much more abundant. But the breed didn't change as fast as the industry did."

In his position as a national director, Greg Innerst will help promote the modern Berkshire breed and its growing popularity among pork exporters. The American Berkshire Association, headquartered at West Lafayette, Indiana, is promoting the meat quality of the breed with a program called Berkshire Gold. According to the Innersts, Berkshire Gold is making impressive inroads into the growing Japanese consumer market for high-quality pork.

"Berkshires test first or tied for first in every test category for meat quality," Greg asserts. "Theirs is the only carcass show where 70 percent of the score is on eating quality, in categories like tenderness, firmness, Ph level of the meat, leanness, cooking shrinkage and color."

In fact, he adds, competitors in Berkshire carcass classes have to wait for some time for results, because of the extensive testing that is done at Iowa State University.

Citing livestock show history, Innerst notes that Berkshires were named the champion carload in hog competition at the famed Chicago International Exposition more than any other breed. In fact, during the early 1950s, a well-known Berkshire champion boar and its owner were featured on the front of Wheaties Breakfast of Champions cereal boxes.

"I'd really like to find one of those boxes," says Greg wishfully of the scarce item of breed history.

While hogs may no longer be pictured on cereal boxes, they are now the focus of photography and videotaping. Beth does the videotaping of their boars and gilts for competitive and merchandising efforts to promote the Innerst Berkshire bloodlines. She is also secretary of the Pennsylvania Berkshire Association and both play active roles in numerous show and hog industry activities.

GBI 6 Architech, bred by Greg and Beth Innerst, was named the champion boar at the American Berkshire Association's summer type conference and sold for $2,000 in the sale which followed.

Pa. Jr. Holstein Offers Opportunity To Own Calf

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Association has been extremely busy. As in past years the organization is in need of funds. Our large fundraiser for this year is the calf raffle.

Gundlach Receives National Communication Award

BOSTON, Ma. — Roger B. Gundlach, Manager of Communications at Genex Cooperative, Lancaster, received the 1996 H.E. Klinefelter Award for distinguished service in the field of cooperative communications during the Annual Institute of the Cooperative Communicators Association (CCA) in Boston on July 16.

Gundlach became the 38th recipient of CCA's Klinefelter Award, the organization's oldest and most prestigious honor. CCA is a national association of business communicators who work for cooperatives.

The H.E. Klinefelter Award recognizes a CCA member who has raised the standards of cooperative communications and, in doing so, has contributed significantly to the cooperative way of doing business.

"Much of the change in our cooperative has been accepted by our members based on faith and trust," N. Alan Bair, Gundlach's co-worker of 18 years, wrote in nominating him for the honor last April. "Roger has been a key player in building that faith and trust."

Bair's comments about Gundlach were echoed by a wide range of colleagues across the U.S. Crystal M. Smithmyer, Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives, says of Gundlach's writing, "Each word reflects the dedication and talent of a man who has committed his life's work to communicating the import and uniqueness of the cooperative way of doing business."

Gundlach earned his BS and MS degrees in agricultural journalism from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. While a student, he worked as a reporter for a weekly newspaper printed by the Inter-County Cooperative Publishing Association in his hometown of Frederic, Wisconsin.

Only a few days after receiving his MS degree, he joined Southeastern Pennsylvania Artificial Breeders Cooperative, which later became Atlantic Breeders Cooperative and is now Genex Cooperative Inc. Gundlach has written and designed every issue of his cooperative's member newsletter since July 1960. His other responsibilities have included preparing advertising and managing the organization's printing department.

Through his writing and daily interaction with members, fellow employees and the public, he's earned the respect and trust of his cooperative's members and management with his deep understanding of cooperatives and the artificial insemination industry, according to Sally B. Bair, press secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

His colleague, N. Alan Bair, notes that Gundlach became enthused about desktop publishing after he saw it demonstrated at a 1987 regional CCA workshop in Pittsburgh. Two months later, he produced his first publication totally in-house — the first time anyone in the artificial insemination industry had used desktop publishing.

Roger Gundlach

Gundlach has also assumed broad communication responsibilities for helping the senior management of his cooperative gain approval of a major merger within the AI industry. A fellow employee says Gundlach "was a key member of the management team which advocated this merger over a three-year period."

Gary Mallow of Ithaca, NY, describes Gundlach as "the dean of communicators in the American artificial insemination industry."

Thirty-seven years ago, CCA presented its first Klinefelter Award in memory of H.E. Klinefelter, who, in 1939, became editor of The Missouri Farmer. Klinefelter established the information division at Missouri Farmers Association. He was an excellent writer and became well-known for his articles about cooperatives and their future.

In the junior show, Shelby Allen had the grand champion with Allen-Hill Raider Gabby Gem. Gem was the first place junior three year-old and best udder in class.

Reserve grand champion honors went to Aaron Eaton with Bent-Creek Top Gun Northstar. This winner came from the aged cow class.

Allen-Hill was the premier breeder, and the Miller family was the premier exhibitor.

According to Ken Raney, representing the PA Holstein Association, this show is one of seven regional Holstein shows in the Keystone State. Any Holstein Association member may enter any of the shows. Though the majority of the entrants here were from Fayette and Westmoreland Counties, some entries came as far as from Mercer County.

Chester County Dairy Milk Lines

Walter Wurster
Extension
Dairy Agent

The annual Chester County Holstein Field Day is to be held August 8 at the Pinta-Lane Farm, with Tim and Phyllis Barlow and family as hosts.

Roger Rohrer, vice president of Agri-Finance at CoreState Bank in Lancaster, is to be the speaker.

His talk is to focus on the positive aspects of farming for young people and young farm families and encourage them to continue in the farming occupation.

Roger grew up on a farm in Paradise Township in Lancaster County and he presently owns a 90-acre farm adjacent to the Holstein dairy farm operated by his father and brother.

His family, including his wife, two sons (ages 15 and 13) and a daughter (10) annually grow 10 acres of tobacco along with other crops.

His children are active in 4-H, especially with swine projects. Roger has been with CoreStates for 10 years and presently covers southern Lancaster County and the Octorara Valley of Chester County.

Previously, he was with Farm Credit for 11 years. His hobbies include kids, hunting and farming.

A registered June Holstein calf from the Swan Road Farm of Rodney Bare will be given to a youth in attendance between the ages of 6 and 16.

The dam of the calf is an 84-point daughter of Modik Valiant Count with more than 31,000 pounds of milk.

The next three dams all scored Very Good. The sire of the calf is Swan Road Converse Jason, a young sire at 21st Century Genetics and a son of an 86-point Blackstar dam. The calf has an 86-point sister in the Swan Road herd.

There will also be great food at the bargain price of $4 for ages 12 and older; $2 for children aged 4 to 11; and no charge for children younger than 3.

Call immediately for reservations. Contact people are Rodney Bare at (610) 593-7084; Jim Miller at (610) 935-8668; Jane Pepple (610) 932-3975; or John St. John at (610) 869-8745.

Ag Progress Bus Trip

An Ag Progress Days bus trip, scheduled for August 14, is being offered for those who would like to relax and leave the driving and parking to someone else.

The cost is $20 per person, payable to the Chester County Extension. For more information, contact Pat Taws at (610) 696-3500.

Chester 4-H Dairy Program

Summertime is fair time, and fair time makes you think of kids showing calves, heifers, cows and dairy goats at 4-H events.

Granted, going to the fair is a lot of work, but it is also a time to visit with friends and to have some fun.

However, for 4-H dairy members, showing their animals is only one part of a comprehensive program. Following are some of the other year-round activities that help youth learn dairy management skills, develop leadership and public speaking abilities and mature into responsible adults.

- Judging team members learn how to select animals for proper type.
- Dairy bowl members learn a wide variety of facts about the dairy industry.
- Members give demonstrations and presentations at club meeting thus making them more comfortable when speaking in front of a group.
- Elected officers learn how to properly conduct a meeting.
- All members must keep record books on their project anmials that include health, feed and breeding records, plus a final accounting of all the income and expenses related to their animals.
- Learn how to care for their animals, including common veterinary practices and understanding when their animal is sick or needs special care.
- Visiting farms to learn how successful farmers manage their dairy operations.

These are just a few of the activities that 4-H dairy youth get involved in. If you have a young person between the ages of 8 and 18 in your family, call the Extension office at (610) 696-3500 about enrolling them in the 4-H dairy program for the coming year.

for unruly steers, according to O'dell.

The other cattle ranged wildly in frame and muscle score, but many came within the expected live weight categories.

The Quality Assurance Sales began in 1985 as the Pound Maker Sales. Graders use the genetic databases and evaluation sheets to match up certain lots of cattle for potential gain and overall consistency with buyer expectancy. The first one this year is scheduled Oct. 1. Last year, 1,300 head of calves were sold at the Quality Assurance Sales, according to Osborne.

"We're putting together alliances, or calf pools, for a higher representation of cattle out of West Virginia, to put to your advantage," said Osborne.

Pennsylvania has a similar feeder alliance. The Pennsylvania Feeder Calf Pool, first conducted in 1995, included 22 producers. This year the pool is scheduled Oct. 16 with a goal of 1,000 calves.

For more information about the pool, call Comerford at (814) 863-3661.

Basketball Practice Doesn't Deter Lebanon Swine Champion

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — For want of a better expression, the Lebanon Hog Show is a tale of divided loyalties.

In other words, you can't be in two places at one time.

Ask Jeremy (Jake) Mase. Because of the stringent obligations of basketball camp, on Monday morning he wasn't able to see his lightweight champion hog move all the way up to supreme market hog at the Lebanon Fair. Instead, he was busy at the Annville Cleona basketball minicamp at Messiah College.

Jake, 16, son of Ken and Irene Mase, Lebanon, asked a friend, Blaine Brown, to show the Hampshire/Duroc gilt, obtained from Larry Arnold, Womelsdorf. While Jake was away training to be a varsity basketball player (he wasn't home the whole month of July, said his mom, Irene), Blaine showed the hog for Jake's first Lebanon championship.

"Figures that he loves to show pigs, and the first time he can't show he wins championship," said his father, Ken. "But athletics are his first priority." Jake works on his parent's 80-cow dairy farm in Lebanon.

Irene Mase said that Jake was feeding the 231-pound hog, the crossbred champion, "a little bit of cow's milk," she said. "I don't know if that helped or not." Ken said that his son, an eight-year Lebanon County Swine Club 4-H member, will take a little bit out of his busy schedule (Jake plays football, basketball, and baseball) to attend the sale later in the week.

Show judge Randy Smith said he appreciated the "clean, eye-appealing" lightweight pig, one that showed "tremendous size."

Smith chose the heavyweight champion shown by Wendy Atkins as reserve champion market hog. He said the hog "intrigues me as far as being a big hog, but not the leanest, though with a lot of muscle." The 275-pound crossbred hog, shown by Wendy, was produced from her own sow using semen from an Oscar Manbeck boar.

Wendy, 17, daughter of Bill and Judy Atkins, Lebanon, is a 10-year 4-H member and attends Cedar Crest High School.

Randy Smith, show judge, is herdsman for Isler Purebreds, Prospect, Ohio. Smith raises Duroc, York, Landrace, and Hampshire hogs. Last year, Isler Purebreds produced the champion junior barrow at the Ohio State Fair and the champion open show barrow at the state fair. Smith also farms with his parents, who manage 60 sows and specialize in the show pig business.

There were a total of 117 hogs and about 65 exhibitors.

Following is a list of show placings.

Association Launches Internet Site

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Worldwide access to information about Hereford cattle is available on the Internet. The American Hereford Associa-tion (AHA) launched its home page in June, with the address http://www.hereford.org/.

"Any cattleman with access to the 'Net can contact the association for a wide variety of instant information," said Dr. John Hough, AHA's director of research and performance records. "The Hereford Sire Summary was already on the Internet in an interactive format, and we've expanded from that innovative stage."

Updated regularly, the AHA's home page currently features Hereford history and background, educational and promotional information and key personnel contacts. Additionally, all AHA departments and senior staff have e-mail addresses for quick, convenient contact between the association, Hereford breeders and the beef industry.

New York Offers Princess Training

The Making Of A Dairy Princess

MORRISVILLE, NY — The first week of sunshine and excellent hay weather welcomed 35 new county dairy princesses, their alternates, and chaperones to the Dairy Princess Training Seminar at SUNY Morrisville on July 10-12. The three-day event was organized and sponsored by the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC), as it prepared nearly 100 dairy promoters throughout New York State for an upcoming year of increasing milk and dairy product consumption.

Delivering positive milk messages through the media and one-on-one at special events, is the role of county dairy promoters. To enhance these communication skills, dairy princesses and alternates attended workshops on public speaking, newspaper publicity, media interviewing and radio public service announcements. Focused on the most effective ways to increase milk efforts consumption, these interactive workshops provided hands-on experience for the promoters and their upcoming year of dairy promotion.

Establishing a rapport with the media is integral to the promotion program. ADADC Director of Communication Brenda Beltram, trained the participants to incorporate positive milk messages into media interviews, while ADADC Public Relations Specialist Beth Meyer taught them to secure recipes and nutrition articles in local newspapers. Radio public service announcements were featured in another session — providing the girls an opportunity to work on their public speaking skills and tour the SUNY radio and television stations.

Since dairy princesses influence nutritional habits of thousands of school children, developing an effective school presentation is crucial to dairy promotion. School programs, created by the new promoters for elementary audiences, were evaluated by former princesses, elementary school teachers, and ADADC communications staff. Helpful evaluations gave each new promoter a valuable analysis of her presentation and suggestions for improvement.

Working with the 35 county dairy princesses in a variety of promotions and events throughout the year are the 1996-97 New York Alternate Dairy Princesses who recently attended the Dairy Princess Training Seminar held at SUNY Morrisville on July 10-12. (Front Row L-R) Michelle Anuszewski, Washington; Deanne Villnave, St. Lawrence; Shannon Pudney, Cortland; Amanda Hatfield, Tompkins; Charlene Ives, Chenango; Darlene Jackson, Chautauqua; Sarah Massey, Steuben; Jennifer Dindl, Jefferson; Mary Ellen Pautler, Lewis; Kirsten Rowe, NYS Alternate Princess; Jenny Kelsey, NYS Alternate Princess; Back row: Amber Vincent, Lewis; Patty Furner, Oneida; Carrie Snyder, Wayne; Ericka Galvin, Rennselaer; Amanda Fugle, Wyoming; Amanda Moody, Rennselaer; Mindy Cornell, Franklin; and Eileen Cummings, Lewis.

When asked about the most beneficial workshop, Melissa Odell, Cayuga County Dairy Princess from Union Springs, NY, said "Definitely the school presentations. I received suggestions for improving my presentation, and it was great to see all the other creative programs from around the state."

Stressing the American Dairy Association's importance in the marketplace, Rick Naczi, ADADC executive vice president, presented valuable information concerning the impact of ADADC's marketing. He highlighted several promotional programs such as the very successful "got milk?" ad campaign, and commended the princesses for their tremendous local efforts which strengthens the association's market impact.

Dairy princesses and alternates gained knowledge and confidence skills that they will apply to presentations, newspaper articles, radio announcements and special events in the upcoming year. "Having attended the dairy princess training seminar, I've developed communication skills and confidence that have prepared me for an effective year of dairy promotion," says Elizabeth Atwater, Niagara-Orleans County Dairy Princess from Barker, NY.

Stephanie Meyers, ADADC producer communications specialist and seminar coordinator said, "Dairy farmers have a lot to be proud of. I'm very excited about the quality and caliber of this year's promoters, especially since we have six additional princesses." Assisting Meyers with the seminar were New York State Dairy Princess Kelly West of Varysburg, NY and State Alternates Jenny Kelsey of Canastota, NY and Kirsten Rowe of Earlville, NY. Serving as role models for the new promoters, the state princesses demonstrated ideal promotional skills, including presentations, teamwork, leadership and goal-setting.

In addition to preparing the 100 new promoters for a busy year of dairy promotion, the training seminar provides a foundation for the 35 county dairy princesses, who will compete at the 36th Annual New York State Dairy Princess Pageant. Held on Tuesday, February 18, 1997, at the Four Points Hotel by Sheraton in Liverpool, NY. The pageant will represent the selection of a new state dairy princess.

Practicing effective public speaking service announcements, local dairy promoters learn the importance of recording positive dairy messages on local radio stations at the Dairy Princess Training Seminar in Morrisville, N.Y. (L-R) Julie Stoddard, Chautauqua County Alternate Princess, Alison Littlefield, Jefferson County Princess, and Lois Lewis Cattaraugus County Princess.

One year, it may be the year of the cat. Another, the year of the horse. (Around here, every year is the year of the cow.)

But in the world of folk decorating, this is the year of the sunflower.

Every few seasons, some hot new decorating decor comes into play. This is an artfully designed and carefully honed method of marketing and merchandising, otherwise known as selling stuff. It keeps the economic wheels greased and people in work. Capitalism at its finest.

Many seasons ago, we Holstein cow people were absolutely delighted when the "black and white" cow pattern decor swept the country. Black and white glistened on everything from kids underwear to teapots to my prized Holstein-spotted computer mouse-pad gifted me by a special friend.

Then, the sunflower sprouted. Few flowers relay the message of down-hominess better than a sunflower. Their brilliant yellow petals and wide-eyed face look captures the essence and cheerfulness of summer's brightest and most pleasant days. Sunflowers symbolize warmth and happiness and little kids palying in the garden.

Suddenly, there were sunflowers on T-shirts, sunflowers on friendship coffee mugs, sunflowers on kitchen rugs. Bolts of fabric boasted yards of the cheery yellow-petaled posies and silk reproductions grew from door wreaths and table arrangements.

Not to be outdone in the effort to reamin "with it" — decoratively speaking — we are pleased to announce that the farmstead has been redecorated in the latest sunflower look.

Courtesy of Mother Nature, with engineering by our bird population. And maybe a squirrel or two.

Aiding and abetting this effort has been the overwhelmingly wet summer, in which anything that sits in one place for more than an hour either sprouts or mildews. Which means that places which, in most summers will not even grow grass, have flourishing colonies of sunflowers.

Like under the maple trees, whose aggressive roots and thick canopy usually starve and shade out all plant growth beneath — flowers, grass, even weeds don't do well at the feet of maples. But, this summer, oodles of sunflowers have sprouted in the mulch around the maple's trunks from seed dropped there from the birdfeeders and not found by the rooster and guinea-fowl clean-up crews. Most are a bit scruffy and anemic, due to the havey shade cover, but are nonetheless forming minature bloom heads and seedheads.

Where the environment is more promising, sunflower volunteers have trunks like small trees and multiple blooms. One eager-beaver set roots just off the blacktop outside the dairybarn, and grew a fat, wide head with a flat spot on which the birds are already sitting to snatch the developing seeds.

Another took root in the raspberry patch, guarding over the briars (and weeds) like a lofty sentinel. A support wire for the electric pole in the center of the patch runs right by the developing seedheads, ideal perch for the finches to check the seed progress.

My favorite is the sturdy fellow in the middle of the back yard, which sprouted in soil stirred loose when The Farmer yanked our dying willow tree. When the rain finally stopped enough that I could mow the lawn, the stalk was already a yard-high, sporting a bud. How could I kill that? So there it stands, mid-yard, with multiple golden blooms crawling with honey-making bees, outperforming the row of ornamental sunflowers just beginning to bloom in the garden.

Indiana County Selects Dairy Princess

INDIANA (INDIANA Co.) — Julie Lockhart was recently crowned Indiana County Dairy Princess by Amy Trimble, the former dairy princess.

Dairy promotion is not new to Julie who served as a dairy maid for four years and was alternate county dairy princess last year.

Julie is the daughter of Charles and Jackie Lockhart. In the fall, Julie will be a senior at Marion Center High School, where she is active in FFA and ROTC. Julie also in active in church activities and in 4-H.

To help with county dairy promotion, Julie will have four dairy maids to assist her. They are Jennifer McMillen, daughter of Bill and Karen McMillen; Tammy Trimble, daughter of Tom and Faye Trimble; Kathy LaVan, daughter of Joe and Barbara LaVan; Barbara White, daughter of Ronald and Irene White.

Participants at the pageant held at the Holiday Inn included Master of Ceremonies Todd Marino, flower girl Tricia Wallace, crown bearer was Jacob Scott, pages Fred Beatty, Aaron George, and Keith Pollock, pianist Hazel Johnston, and County Commissioner Bernie Smith.

PDPP Bicycle Tour

PITTSBURGH (Allegheny Co.) — The Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program Board will promote milk with a sponsorship of the 10th annual Tour de 'Toona bicycle race August 21-25, in Altoona. The American Dairy Association & Dairy Council Mid East will coordinate and implement the sponsorship on behalf of the PDPP Board.

Tour de 'Toona is one of the largest pro/am bicycle races in the United States and annually draws more than 30,000 spectators to Altoona. Television, radio, newspaper and cycling magazines from southwestern Pennsylvania and across the United States will cover the event.

"As a Blair county dairy farmer, I look forward to welcoming the riders and spectators to Altoona," says Ray Diebold, Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program board member. "The PDPP Board sponsorship will create greater awareness of the dairy industry and dairy products by promoting to this health-conscientious audience."

PDPP will sponsor the "King of the Mountain" portion of the race and will award a "got milk?" jersey and milk toast to the fastest male to ascend Blue Knob Mountain. The grueling seven-mile climb is part of the 90-mile road race around Blair County on Saturday, August 24. The winner will then wear his jersey during the final portion of the race on Sunday.

Media coverage of the race is extensive on both the local and national levels. Altoona media reaches a 17-county area and includes Johnstown, State College, and Pittsburgh. The PDPP Board plans to capitalize on the media exposure at Tour de 'Toona. "Got milk?" banners will line the race course reminding spectators and TV audiences to drink milk. Tour de 'Toona radio coverage includes daily updates and wire-to-wire coverage of Saturday's race on WALY-FM radio, Altoona.

"Got milk?" cow bells will be distributed to the nearly 500 spectators expected to line Blue Knob Mountain for "King of the Mountain." Similar to racing crowds in Europe, the fans will not only cheer the racers as they tackle the most challenging section of the course, but will also take home a milk reminder.

The PDPP Board's involvement in Tour de 'Toona will extend beyond the race itself. Six hundred race marshals will wear hats with the "got milk?" logo, and other marketing opportunities to incorporate the "got milk?" logo will reinforce the dairy message throughout the year. In addition, local dairy princesses and promoters will serve milk punch and dairy product samples for racers.

ADADC Mid East is the producer-funded organization that implements advertising, promotion, marketing, and nutrition education serving dairy producers in 33 counties in western and north central Pennsylvania on behalf of the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotioin Program Board.

Help! Everyone has fleas!

Tis the season for fleas.

It is never too early to be inspecting your dogs and cats for fleas and if the animals come into your house even briefly you need to be inspecting the premises very carefully to get control of the problem before it gets out of hand.

I am a veteran of several Fleas Wars. I have indoor cats and twice I have had the fleas invade through the screens or from visiting aniamls. The first time I ignored the early signs because I figured it couldn't possibly happen in my house with indoor-only cats.

WRONG! It went on for months and even I had flea bites. It ultimately took two visits from the exterminator and washing my cats weekly for three weeks to break the cycle and become flea-free.

In order for you to defeat the critters it is important for you to understand how and where they live and breed.

Fleas feed on animal or human blood. They cannot live or breed without it. They live on animals or in areas where they can get on and off the animals easily. The life cycle of the flea is in four stages: The eggs are laid by the adult female on the pets, in the pet bedding or in cracks and crevices where the animals hang out. Eggs laid on the pet are not firmly attached and soon fall off. In about a week, the eggs hatch into immature fleas called larvae. These are very different from adult fleas. They are very tiny and worm-like, lack legs, and do not feed on fresh blood, but live on organic matter including dried particles or blood and excrement voided by the adult fleas.

If you have a heavy infestation, this might look like salt and pepper scattered in the areas where animals spend a lot of time. For example, if your dog spends time on the sofa and you have not vacuumed the cracks and crevices recently, the larvae might be matureing there! Really!

In about 12 days, the larvae are fully grown and change to the pupal stage which then changes to adult fleas. Adult fleas feed more than once a day on fresh human or animal blood, if they have a chance. They have strong legs and can jump amazingly far, considering their size. They can live under ideal conditions for a year or more. They can live several weeks without a meal if they have to, by which time they are very hungry. What often happens is that when you come home from vacation you and the animals are devoured by these very hungry fleas that matured while you were away. What a surprise! Some people are more attractive to fleas than others. In my family I am the flea-bait — they don't bite my husband.

Flea bites can transmit a number of diseases to man and in addition some people and pets are allergic to the bites beyond the actual bite itself. You should aggressively wage war on fleas in your environment. It is a war that will need to be planned and carried out over a period of weeks. You must treat the animal and the house or the environment at the same time and repeatedly to get rid of the various stages of the fleas. One shot of spray or one dip for the dog alone will not do the trick.

Treat the animal by insecticidal flea shampoo or dips for the dog or cat. Be sure to read and follow the directions carefully, especially for cats. You need to lather the cat and leave it lathered for as much as 10 minutes for the flea stunning effects to take place. (This is not a happy time for the cat or the human! A friend said she put her cat in a mesh bag to lather up. I lather the cat up and put her in a pet taxi box for 10 minutes so she doesn't escape.)

Meanwhile, you need to vacuum every place the animal frequents to pick up the eggs and larvae. Burn the vacuum bags immediately or fleas will hatch in the sweeper. Spray the area with a product labeled for fleas. Follow the precautions on the label. You can also close windows and use flea bombs to fumigate a room. Be sure to use the correct amount for the space to be treated. One time will usually not do the trick. Repeat about 10 or 12 days later to catch any hatched insects.

If you seem to have a whole house infestation, you may want to consider a professional exterminator. By the time you add up the cost of bombing your whole house a couple of times plus the aggravation, it may well pay you to have it done. They guarantee results and will redo at a reduced cost if needed. You will still have to do the vacuuming and animal washing, however. It must be an all-out war. Rewash the animals. You may consider using one of the new systemic flea treatments available from the veterinarian. Be sure to read labels for over-the-counter products when treating kittens and puppies.

And, yes, you can get fleas in your house even if your animals don't go outside, especially if there are animals in the neighborhood. Humans can bring them in when fleas hitch a ride. It is a really frustrating experience. Hope you never find out.

Dairy Council Receives Grant

SOUTHAMPTON, Pa. — Dairy Council today announced that it has received funding for its school assembly project, The Marvelous Machine, from the Pennsylvania State Department of Agriculture. The Pennsylvania Agricultural Product Promotion Grant from the Bureau of Market Development matches funds generated by state agricultural organizations for projects to increase consumer awareness of Pennsylvania-grown agricultural products.

As a result of the grant, Dairy Council will use matching funds for dairy promotion messages to enhance its nutrition education programs for the 1996-97 school year. The grant, for $14,669, will provide funding for Dairy Council's new school assembly program, including lessons which will be provided for teachers to integrate the program into their classrooms. Duet Productions, the assembly production company that will perform the assembly program, is a recognized leader in the field of educational children's theater.

Dairy Council's school assembly program, The Marvelous Machine, targets elementary children with nutrition and health messages. Research has shown that assemblies are a popular and successful way to expand classroom learning by incorporating curriculum-related information into an entertainment format. The matching funds from the grant will enable Dairy Council to offer assemblies at no cost to low-income school districts. The premier performance of The Marvelous Machine assembly is set for September 1996.

Leese Receives Scholarship

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — When April J. Leese, the daughter of Vernon E. and Barbara J. Leese of McConnellsburg, arrives at Penn State's University Park Campus this fall to study the agricultural sciences, she'll be one of only three Penn State students to receive a Competitive Edge Scholarship.

The scholarship, sponsored by Wal-Mart, recognizes some of Penn State's brightest students.

Leese, who attended the Pennsylvania Governor's School for the Agricultural Sciences in 1994, plans to enroll as a first-year student in Penn State's college of Agricultural Sciences and major in environmental resource management.

Leese was the salutatorian of her graduating class at McConnellsburg High School and was active in a wide variety of academic and community-service organizations. She is a member of the National Honor Society and volunteered with the Fulton County Conservation District.

Wal-Mart's Competitive Edge scholarship will $5,000 a year for four years to Penn State to cover Leese's tuition and fees.

Green To Sun-Ripened Tomatoes Offer Culinary Delights

Now is the time to enjoy vine-ripened tomatoes. Even if you don't grow your own tomato stalks, you can pick up tomatoes at roadside markets. Make certain, the tomatoes are vine-ripened and not picked when they are green. The less ripe when picked, the less flavor.

Select tomatoes with a good shape and a smooth, even skin that has no breaks, bruises, or green or yellow patches. They should feel heavy for their size, and should be red and slightly soft. Small tomatoes are best for making salads and casseroles. Medium and large ones are good for slicing, stuffing, or marinating. Overripe tomatoes of all sizes are the best for making tomato sauce. Green tomates make excellent mincemeat.

SCALLOPED TOMATOES

Toss together and put in buttered dish:

4 cups bread cubes (8 slices)
½ cup melted butter

In saucepan, bring to boil and simmer 20 minutes:

1 quart crushed tomatoes
½ cup dark brown sugar
Salt and pepper to taste

Pour tomatoes over bread cubes and bake at 350 degrees for one hour.

TOMATO JELLY

10 pounds ripe tomatoes
Granulated sugar
2 cinnamon sticks
½ teaspoon salt

Scald, peel, and dice tomatoes. Measure 1 cup tomatoes and add ¾ cup granulated sugar per each cup tomatoes. Mix and let stand eight hours or overnight. Put tomato mixture in large kettle and add salt, cinnamon sticks, which have been broken in half. Boil on medium heat until thick and clear, stirring often. Remove cinnamon sticks, cool. Pour into jars or jelly glasses. Seal with thin layer of paraffin. Makes approximately three pints.

TOMATO CAKE

½ cup butter
2 cups sugar
2 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups fresh tomatoes
1 cup raisins
1 cup nuts
2½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon

Cook tomatoes, add raisins to hot tomatoes and let mixture cool. Beat butter and sugar together until fluffy. Add eggs, and beat some more. Mix in vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together and add slowly to butter. Stir in tomato and raisin mixture and nuts. Bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes.

ITALIAN SHELL BAKE

2½ cups medium shells, uncooked
1 pound ground beef
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped green pepper
2 cups tomato sauce
1 teaspoon garlic salt
1 teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups ricotta cheese
2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese
¼ cup chopped fresh parsley

Cook shells and drain well. Meanwhile, brown beef in a large skillet. Add onion and pepper and saute. Pour off excess fat. Stir in tomato sauce, garlic salt, oregano, and pepper; simmer 5 minutes. Combine ricotta cheese, 1½ cups mozzarella cheese, and parsley. Combine shells with meat sauce; place half mixture in 3-quart casserole. Spread cheese filling evenly over shells; top with remaining shells and meat mixture. Sprinkle with remaining ½ cup mozzarella cheese. Cover; bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Remove cover; bake 5 minutes longer or until cheese is lightly browned. Serves 6-8.

For a lower fat recipe, replace ricotta cheese with 2 cups of nonfat cottage cheese.

DUTCH BEANS

16-ounces canned, diced tomatoes
16-ounces canned cut string beans
1 medium onion, diced
1 tablespoons bacon bits
Salt and pepper to taste

Place all ingredients in a 2-quart pan and cook over medium heat until onions are cooked. Serves 8 to 10.

TOMATO-VEGETABLE STEW

8-10 large, ripe tomatoes, skinned and chopped
2 medium yellow squash, cubed
4 medium green squash, cubed
3 ears corn, cooked and cut from cob
3 large sweet onions, chopped
3 tablespoons butter
1-2 tablespoons sugar
Salt and pepper to taste
Cornstarch to thicken

Saute onions in butter. Add chopped tomatoes, yellow and green squash, and corn. Simmer until squash is cooked thoroughly. Add sugar, salt, and pepper to taste. Mix cornstarch with one-half cup water until well blended. Add to tomato mixture to thicken.

I serve this often when tomatoes are plentiful. For variety, almost any fresh vegetable can be added. This can be served like stewed tomatoes or not thickened quite so much, it makes an excellent vegetable chowder.

Belinda Myers, Dällastown, captured first place honors in the Lebanon Fair Apple Pie Baking Contest on Monday at the fairgrounds.

The Special Apple Pie is a unique recipe, containing peaches to give it the special flavor the three judges for the contest agreed was the best.

There were a total of seven entries. Second place went to Connie Knauss and third to Anna Nebinger.

Judges were Alletta Schadler, Debbie Hartman, and Paul Harclerode.

SPECIAL APPLE PIE

Crust:
2¼ cup flour, sifted
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ cup milk
⅔ cup butter-flavored Crisco
1 teaspoon salt

Sauce:
¾ cup sugar
½ cup water
2 tablespoons butter
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Sugar filling:
⅓ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
6 cups apples, peeled, cored, sliced
1 cup peaches, peeled, sliced
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter

Makes one 9-inch pie. For dough, cut Crisco into flour, salt, and baking powder until coarse crumbs. Gradually add milk, tossing with fork until moistened. Divide in half. Roll out one half of crust one-inch larger than pie pan. Set aside.

For sauce: In small saucepan, bring sugar, water, nutmeg, and cinnamon to a boil. Add butter.

Coat apples with flour. Layer in pie shell. Add peach slices in the middle of apples. Sprinkle with sugar filling. Dot with butter. Pour on ¼ cup cooked sauce. Roll out remaining half of dough. Cut into lattice strips. Lay on top of apples. Crimp edges. Decorate top with leaves cut out of dough. Bake in a 400 degree for 50 minutes. Basting with syrup every 15 minutes.

DON'T FORGET TO WATER

It's hard to believe, but some "Great and Small Gardeners" have experienced several days without significant rainfall. Although we may feel we've had enough rain in recent weeks to last a lifetime — or at least the rest of the summer, truth is, a few hot, sunny, windy days can result in the need to apply water to our lawns and gardens.

Before you grab the garden hose, take the time to check the flower or vegetable bed to see just how dry it really is. Use a garden spade or trowel (or soil probe for those very serious gardeners who have everything) to dig down a few inches to check soil moisture. Water only if the soil really needs it.

Most of our garden plants require about 1-inch of water per week, including rain, under normal growing conditions. Don't count on the rainfall amount supplied by the local news. This is data taken from one place — usually the station itself or a local airport. This may be accurate only for that particular location. Summer "pop-up" storms usually produce widely scattered rainfall with amounts varyiong considerably even within a small area. Nothing beats a backyard rain gauge for determining how much water your garden is receiving. Just be sure to empty it daily and keep it clean.

SQUASH BLOSSOMS AND BABY SQUASH

The amazing variety and abundance produced make squash a truly rewarding garden vegetable to grow. If this means you always end up with too much (and your neighbors run when they see you approach bearing zucchini) try varying your harvest practices by picking fruit in various stages throughout the season. Squash blossoms are edible and along with baby or immature fruit, add a gourmet touch to your meals. This goes for all types of summer squash — zucchini, scallops or patty pans, straight — and crookneck, etc.

Pick squash flowers, males and females, in the early morning when they are fully opened; by afternoon they are wilted and difficult to stuff for cooking. Pick the female flowers when their fruit is one and a half inches long. Squash blossoms are great stuffed and sauteed or simply dipped in batter and fried.

Baby squash can be harvested while the blossom is till attached or after the blossom falls. The tiny fruit can be either steamed or eaten raw.

IDENTIFY INVASIVE PLANTS

Unknown to most gardeners is a list of alien plants called exotics like Kudzu and Paulownia that deplete soil nutrient resources. Invasive plants are found in many wooded areas, both open fields and wetlands of Pennsylvania. Young saplings soon become larger young trees that choke out other native plants.

These trees and shrubs change the balance and diversity of a woodland community. For example, paulownia trees often grow in abandoned areas. It is also shade tolerant but is rarely seen in densely wooded areas.

Ailanthus or tree of heaven has an aggressive underground root system. Like black walnuts, a toxic substance is released by the roots that caused an alleopathic effect. Kudzu vines compete by choking out and shading existing shrubs by forming a mat-lie growth. Glossy Buckthorn covers over wetlands so no other species can develop. Deer also enhance invasive plants. For example deer feed on bayberry but not on honeysuckle. To avoid invasive plants, starby by taking a plant problem inventory. Remove by hand those plants found to be invasive or use a registered herbicide. Monitor the area after treatment.

CAKE WITH GREEN TOMATO FROSTING-FILLING

1¼ cups unsifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup sugar
¼ cup vegetable oil
1 egg
¾ cup milk
3 tablespoons ground green tomatoes
1 teaspoon butterscotch flavoring

Mix dry ingredients: add remainder of ingredients; beat. Bake in 2 greased and floured 8-inch layer cake pans at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes, or until done.

Frosting-Filling:

1 cup chopped green tomatoes
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
½ cup frozen concentrated orange juice
½ cup chopped nuts

Mix together tomatoes and sugar. Heat slowly, simmering until tender. Mix briefly in blender. Soften gelatin in cold water; add to hot tomato mixture, and stir until well dissolved. Stir in orange juice. Cool until mixture begins to set. Spread thinly over each layer of cooled cake. Place layers in refrigerator for 10 minutes. Take them out; spread thick layer of gelatin mixture over bottom layer, top with other layer; spread thin layer over whole cake. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Chill until ready to serve.

QUESTION — Marie Clover, Ottsville, would like a recipe for old-time tomato jelly or jam.

QUESTION — Marlene Hursh, Morrisville, Vt., would like a recipe for deep fried ice cream.

QUESTION — Shirley Lilley, Baltimore, Md., would like a recipe for gingerbread square cupcakes and frosting (a dolop on top of each) such as marketed by Valley Pride Bakery each fall season and sold in the Chambersburg area.

QUESTION — Mary Ann Lutz, Bethel, would like a funnel cake recipe. Also, she would like a recipe for dip or batter to dip in deep fried vegetables such as mushrooms, cauliflower, and onion puffs.

QUESTION — E.J. Beaver, Ringtown, would like a recipe for marinated mushrooms that taste similar to those served at Shaw's Deli on Tilghman St., Allentown. She also would like different methods for cooking trout. E.J. writes that her mother worked away from home and didn't have time to teach her to cook, Little by little, E.J. is learning to cook by using the recipes in this column.

QUESTION — Kathi Pifer, New Kingstown, wants to know why her whoopie pies raise really high and crack on top. She wants them to come out smooth on top. It sounds to me like she might bake them too long or that they are too dry. Try using a bit less flour or removing them from the oven when the top still leaves a slight indentation when finger is pressed against the top. Any other ideas?

QUESTION — Jerry Johnson, Herndon, wants a recipe for canning spaghetti with meat. He'd also like a recipe to can chicken noodle soup.

QUESTION — A Columbia reader would like a recipe or a place to purchase goat milk candy in chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry flavors.

QUESTION — Charlotte Devilbiss, Taneytown, Md., needs the address of the company that makes Clear-Jel.

QUESTION — Anna Lynch, Pasadena, Md., wants recipes for plain yeast bread.

QUESTION — Anna Bryan, Oxford, N.J. wants to purchase a used cookbook titled "Good Earth Country Cooking" by Betty Groff and Jose.

QUESTION — Yvonne Musser, Lancaster, said she would like a recipe for buttermilk salad like they serve at Akron Restaurant in Akron.

QUESTION — Joanne Stauffer, Myerstown, would like a recipe for jelly made with little or no sugar.

QUESTION — Dixie Fix, Harrisonville, would like some recipes using stuffing tomatoes. She planted seed from Gurney's. All they had was yellow seed. Does anyone know if seeds are available for green stuffing tomatoes or if they can be stuffed like peppers and frozen?

QUESTION — Alta Sensenig, Newville, would like to have a recipe for butter and egg dinner rolls, which are really moist.

QUESTION — Christine Ayers of Clarks Summit would like a recipe for apple cider doughnuts and cabbage salad that tastes like that made at the Country Cupboard Restaurant in Lewisburg.

QUESTION — D. Newsom, N.Y., would like a recipe that tastes similar to Mrs. Smith's French Apple Pie made with raisins and confectioners' icing on top.

QUESTION — A faithful New York reader would like a recipe for an old-fashioned strawberry shortcake with a cooked frosting.

QUESTION — Lorraine Bannon, Waymart, would like a recipe for cider sauce to put on ham such as that served by Miller's Restaurant.

QUESTION — A York County reader would like to know how to pasteurize eggs at home.

QUESTION — Linda Ludwig, Reading, would like recipes for blueberry and cinnamon raisin bagels, and an apple tart with syrup topping like those sold by Ruppert's Bakery at the Leesport Auction years ago.

ANSWER — A faithful New York reader wanted a recipe for quick cinnamon sticky buns and quick cinnamon swirl bread made without yeast. Thanks to Marlene Hursh, Norrisville, Vermont; E. Ruth Zimmerman, New Holland; and Sarah Clark, Breezewood, for sending recipes.

Uside-Down Orange Biscuits

2 cups all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons shortening
¾ cup milk
2 tablespoons butter, softened
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Topping:
½ cup orange juice
½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons butter, melted

In a large bowl, combine flour, baking powder, and salt; cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in milk just until moistened. Turn onto a lightly floured surface; knead gently 10-12 times. Roll into a 15x12-inch rectangle. Spread with butter. Combine sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle over butter. Roll up jell-roll style, starting from the short side. Cut into 12 equal slices. Place in a greased 9-inch round baking pan. Combine topping ingredients; pour over biscuits. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool in pan 5 minutes. Invert onto a platter and serve warm.

Cinnamon Rolls

Two loaves frozen bread dough. Let thaw in refrigerator overnight. Grease pan and break or cut one loaf of bread into pieces. Place pieces in bottom of 9x13-inch pan.

In saucepan, put the following:
1 stick butter
1 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons milk
1 tablespoon cinnamon
2 packages vanilla pudding (not instant)

Place over low heat and stir until smooth, but don't cook. Pour mixture over bread pieces, then put pieces of second load on top. Let rise until pan is filled. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Cinnamon Bread With Nuts

¼ cup butter
2 eggs
1½ cups firmly packed light brown sugar
2½ cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1½ teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon baking powder
½ cups dairy sour cream
1½ cups chopped nuts

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine all dry ingredients, set aside. Cream sugar with butter alternately adding dry ingredients with sour cream. Stir in nuts. Turn into buttered 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake at 55-60 minutes. Cool 5 mintues in pan, then remove from pan cool on wire rack.

ANSWER — A reader wanted a recipe for chocolate pizza made in a pizza pan. Thanks to Nancy Fasolt, proprietor of Cake and Kandy Emporium, East Petersburg. She writes that she developed this recipe to teach a 4-H class. Also thanks to Barbara Zuna, Hummelstown, for sending a recipe.

Chocolate Pizza

8 ounces white chocolate, divided
8 ounces semisweet chocolate chips
½ cup each salted peanuts, mini marshmallows, crispy rice cereal, coconut, red and green candied cherries

In a heavy saucepan or top of a double boiler, melt 6 ounces white chocolate and all the chocolate chips. Stir in peanuts, marshmallows, and cereal.

Pour onto a greased 10-inch pizza pan or a 10-inch circle of cardboard covered with foil. Spread to even out top. Sprinkle with coconut. Top with cherries. Melt remaining white chocolate; drizzle over pizza. Chill. Yield: 16-20 servings.

TOMATO-ZUCCHINI PARMESAN

8-ounces tomato sauce
16-ounce can tomato paste
¾ cup finely chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
8 ounces Monterey Jack cheese, sliced
4 medium-sized tomatoes, cored and sliced
1½ pounds zucchini, sliced ¼ -inch thick
½ cup parmesan cheese
2 teaspoons Italian herb seasoning
¼ teaspoon salt

Combine tomato sauce, tomato paste, onion, Italian seasoning, garlic, and salt in a medium-size saucepan; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. In a 13x9x2-inch pan, layer half of each zucchini, tomatoes, sauce, and Parmesan cheese. Repeat layer.

TOMATO BUTTER

5 pounds ripe tomato
3½ cups light brown sugar
1½ teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground allspice
1½ teaspoon ground cinnamon

Peel tomatoes; cut into small pieces. Mix tomatoes and salt; cook 15 minutes or until tomatoes are mushy. Measure tomatoes. You should have 2 quarts. Return to kettle and add remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil and simmer slowly, stirring occasionally for one hour, or until very thick. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal. Store in cool, dark dry place. Makes 6½ pints.

Cook's Question

Chocolate Pizza

1½ pounds milk chocolate flavored confectionery coating
¾ cup malted milk chips
½ pound red confectionery coating
½ pound peanut flavored confectionery coating
½ pound white confectionery coating
¼ pound green confectionery coating
10-inch cake circle or pizza pan
10-inch pizza box

Mold pepperoni using red coating with a bit of the milk chocolate coating added. Using small rounded mint mold, make 8 pepperoni. Mold mushrooms using peanut coating. Using mushroom mold, make eight mushrooms. Spread melted green coating onto wax paper. When set, cut into pieces for chopped green pepper.

To make crust, mix milk chocolate coating with malted milk chips. Spread onto 10-inch cardboard cake circle or pizza pan. Place pepperoni, mushrooms, and peppers onto crust while it is still soft.

Drizzle entire pizza with white chocolate for the cheese—add extra cheese if desired. To drizzle, use a squeeze bottle with a small hole, a disposable cake deocrator bag, or just let it run from a spoon. When crust is no longer soft, place in 10-inch pizza box. Recipe makes two 10-inch pizzas.

Be creative, add sauce; make a peanut flavored crust; mold little fish for anchovies, etc.

ANSWER — Ruth Virginia Erb, Beavertown, wanted a recipe for the starter to Romtoph Friendship cake. She stored her starter in the freezer, but her husband though it was ice cream topping and ate it. Thanks to Sarah Clark, Breezewood, for sending a recipe that she said if you didn't know it was starter, you'd think it was ice cream.

Starter

1 cup sugar
1 cup flour
1 cup milk

Mix together ingredients for starter. Pour starter into large glass bowl with loose lid or plastic wrap. Day 2, 3, and 4, stir once a day. Day 5 put into bowl, adding 1 cup sugar, 1 cup flour, and 1 cup milk. Days 6, 7, 8, 7, stir once a day. Day 10, add 1 cup milk, flour, and sugar. Stir with mixer. Using three containers, measure 1 cup starter into each container. Give two containers to friends, and make the following recipe or freeze for 3-6 monthes until ready to use.

Starter Cake

⅔ cup oil
1 cup sugar
1½ teaspoons baking powder
3 eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons vanilla
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
1 batch starter mix

Mix together all ingredients. Grease two loaf pans or bundt pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 40-45 minutes or 55-60 minutes for bundt pan. May add 1 cup applesauce or raisins or bananas or nuts or pineapple.

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — In her first year of showing at the Lebanon Area Fair, 10-year-old Morgan Firestine claimed the coveted honor of showing the Supreme Champion of Breeds.

Her Hampshire ewe, named Cookies and Cream, was purchased from Tim and Sarah Fleener of Robesonia whose son Kyle showed the Southdown champion that was also named reserve champion of all breeds.

Morgan, the daughter of Mike and Martene Firestine of Wolmesdorf, previously showed the champion ewe at the Pennsylvania Farm Show where it was named reserve champion of the Hampshire breed.

"I knew she was good, but I didn't know how she would do against other breeds," Morgan said.

Judge John Conway of Newville said that it's a difficult decision to compare breeds and choose only one because each breed has its own particular strength.

He said the toughest decision was between the Southdown champion shown by Kyle Fleener and Morgan's Hampshire. White face breeds are generally more maternal, while black face sheep show more muscle and frame and offer the foundation for breeding stock, according to Conway, who selected the black face sheep as champion.

"It's an outstanding Hamp ewe with muscle, bone, length of body —the most good pieces," Conway said of the supreme champion.

Janine Winebark, 12, was the only one who offered competition to Kyle in the Southdown breed. Kyle took blue ribbons for Southdown yearling ewe, spring and fall ewes, and ram, but Janine's aged ewe was named reserve champion of the breed.

"Although this show doesn't have a lot of numbers, it has the quality that can go on and be competitive in other places," Conway said.

In Dorset competition, Leah Bomberger showed a first in the spring ram lamb class and a second in the yearling ewe class that was bested by Ann Leed's yearling ewe for the grand champion title. Ann also showed a spring ewe lamb for the reserve champion. Amber Adams and Becky Spatz placed second and third respectively in Dorset classes.

In the Hampshire division, Morgan had competition from Sue Leed who showed an aged ewe, a first-place spring ewe, and a second-place in the ewe one year and under class, which was then named reserve champion of the Hampshire breed. Morgan's 11-year-old sister Margeaux showed a ewe in the one-year-and under class that placed third. Sisters Erin and Jamie Willard showed spring ewes that placed third and fourth in the class.

In the Montadale competition, Tisha Epling, who had someone else show her sheep since she was attending classes at Penn State, swept all classes.

Campers Learn Early American Farm Skills

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

And let's suppose it was your job to milk the family cow. You needed a milking stool to sit on while you did your chores. Where would you find one?

Remember, there were no malls, no department stores, not even catalogs where you could buy your milking stool. So, you did what other early colonial settlers did to provide most of the things they needed for everyday farm living.

You made it.

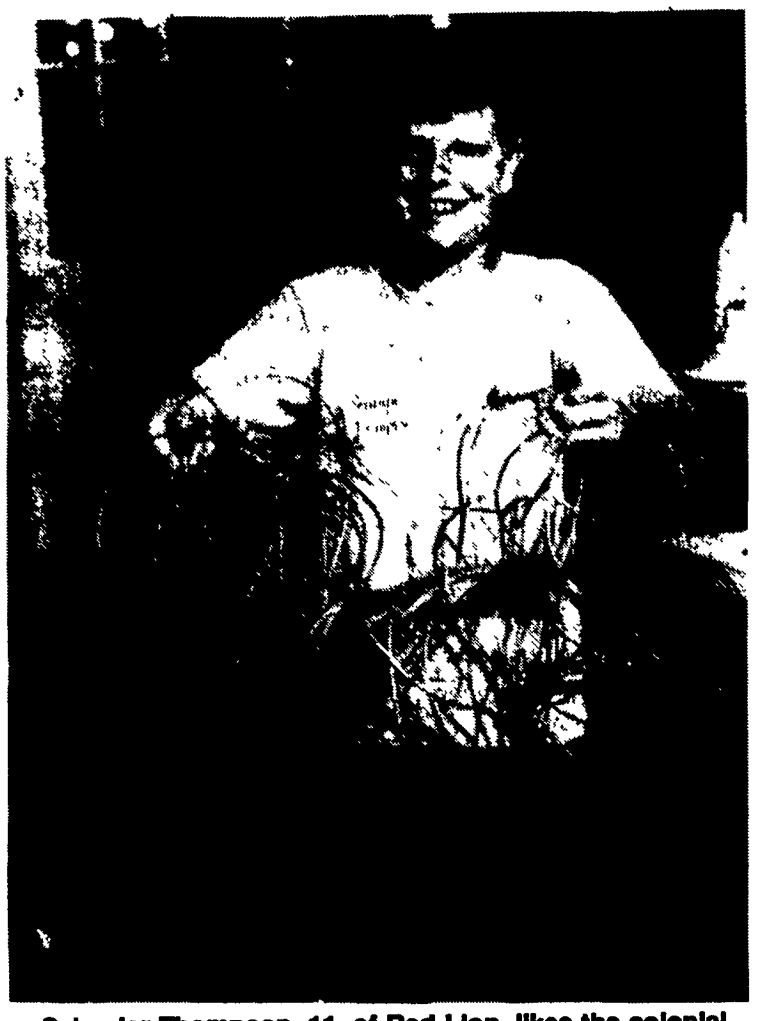
At the recent Colonial Life Camp in York, students in the fifth, sixth and seventh grades spent five days learning some of the skills that were necessary for living on a farm during the early days of America. The camp was a program of The Agricultural and Industrial Museum, West Market Street, and was taught by the museum's outreach coordinator, Joyce White.

The 15 students who participated in Colonial Life Camp learned some of the basics of quilting, dipping candles, marbelizing paper, spinning and dyeing wool and preparing foods, such as churning butter and making apple butter. They also spent a morning "rushing" their own milk stools, just as early Americans might have done.

"Rushing" is the weaving of dried strands of a grass-like material, called rush, that settlers would have gathered from along rivers and streams. The material was tightly woven around a stool or chair frame to form the seat. Because the pieces of rush were not very long, colonists had to tie many, many of them together to form the long strands necessary to weave a seat.

Most rushing of chair and stool seats today is done with a sturdy paper-twist material, rather than the grass-like material, Joyce White told the campers. During one of the crafting sessions, each of the 15 colonial-life campers learned to weave the long strands of paper rush around a wooden frame of a four-legged milking stool. When they were finished, each had a sturdy stool to take home, even if they did not need it to milk a cow.

"Over, under and across," explains Joyce White as she teaches Julia Reno how to weave the strands of paper rush in a pattern around the frame of a milking stool.



Schuyler Thompson, 11, of Red Lion, likes the colonial style of his family's house and thought his milking stool would fit with the other furniture. But Schuyler's roll of rushing material developed a few tangles as he worked.

Coloring/Activity Book Free At Maryland Agricultural Fair

GAITHERSBURG, Md. — Youngsters will get a special treat when they visit the 48th annual Montgomery County Agricultural Fair in August — an official fair coloring/activity book.

The 16-page book, designed by local resident Pam Johnson of Network Printing, has numerous activities for youngsters to occupy their time by . . . from coloring to puzzle solving to the 1996 Coloring Contest sponsored by Gaithersburg Ford Tractor. The book commemorates the fair's observation of the Year of the Dairy Goat and the Year of Arts, Crafts, Hobbies and Photography.

The printing of the 10,000 copies of the coloring was co-sponsored by Citizens Savings Bank, Southern States Cooperative Gaithersburg, Bob and Betsy Stabler, Schmidt Baking Company, Montgomery County Farm Bureau, Pam Johnson, and Network Printing.

"We're real excited about the coloring book at the Montgomery County Agricultural Fair," said fair board president, David Rippeon. "This is the seventh coloring book that the fair has done for the youngsters and we're very appreciative that its design and a portion of the printing costs were covered by our sponsors."

The coloring/activity book will be distributed at various locations during the fair which begins August 16 and ends Aug. 24 at the county fairgrounds in Gaithersburg.

The coloring/activity book made its offical debut when the Montgomery County Agricultural Fair was taken to patients at Children's Hospital in Washington, D.C., Tuesday, July 16. Agnes Arnold donated crayons that were distributed to the hospital's patients to go with the coloring books.

Jerseys Excel At Kimberton Fair

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

KIMBERTON (Chester Co.) — Jersey competition at the Kimberton Community Fair was a night to remember for Tarik Gaffney.

"It's one of my goals come true," said the 18-year-old who works for Top-O-Hill Farm, owned by his mentor Mildred Seeds.

In addition to being named the champion showman and fitter, Gaffney, who has five of his own Jerseys, swept championship and reserve titles in both Jersey junior and senior competitions and the 4-H grand champion overall.

"My goal is to be as good as showman as my 4-H leader, Mildred Seeds," Gaffney said of his employer.

Seeds, who has long been known as the outstanding Jersey breeder and exhibitor, won champion and reserve titles in the open show of Jersey competition.

"This show is the best I ever judged," said Warren Buckman, who is a Holstein breeder. "This Jersey quality beats most other breed shows hands down. These Jerseys have good quality frames, impressive dairyness, and udders."

In the junior 4-H show, Gaffney's senior heifer calf Admiral Peaches of Top-O-Hill was named champion and also reserve in the open show. Top-O-Hill Imperial Tammy was the reserve in the junior 4-H show.

In the senior 4-H show, Gaffney's Top-O-Hill Imperial Trinket, a junior 2-year-old, was selected champion, which went on to become the 4-H grand champion overall. The reserve was Top-O-Hill Admiral Lucky Penny.

The open show, which runs simultaneously with the 4-H show, was dominated with Seed's show string. Her junior champion was a senior heifer calf named Top-O-Hill Imperial Thread.

Other showmanship and fitting champions in addition to Gaffney in the senior division were Vicky Hewitt, who placed first in fitting in the age 12-14-year-old division.

Sollenberger, 14-year-old daughter of Holly and David Sollenberger of Spring City helps with the 40 head of Jerseys, Guernseys, and Holsteins on the farm.

Nine-year-old Becky Baily swept both fitting and showmanship titles in the 8-11-year-old division. She leases a Jersey calf from Top-O-Hill Farm and raises it on the family's West Chester farm known for its Lineback cattle. She is the daughter of Jane and Bernard Baily.

Sarah Bedgar Is Maryland Dairy Princess

KAREN BUTLER
Maryland Correspondent

FREDERICK, Md. — The Maryland Dairy Princess program celebrated 35 years of success recently. The anniversary gala, held at the Holiday Inn in Frederick, was highlighted by a pageant including 20 former princesses, and the coronation of Sarah Elizabeth Bedgar as the new state Princess.

Maryland State Comptroller Louis Goldstein came from Annapolis to attend the formal event, in which five area dairy princesses vied for the state title. Contestants included Sarah Bedgar, who represented the North Central area, Jessica Fritz from Carroll County, Jana Edwards representing the Eastern Shore, Dora Smith from Frederick County, and Erin Feuillet from the South Central region.

Sarah is the daughter of Paul and Patricia Bedgar of Freeland. She is an eight-year member of the Parkton 4-H club, where she has held the positions of president, vice president, secretary, and historian. She has also been a member of the Baltimore County Livestock club for two years. As a 4-H member she has been active in public speaking, leadership, citizenship, dairy judging, and dairy bowl. She looks forward to attending the National 4-H Congress in Memphis this November.

Sarah's dairy bowl career has taken her as far as Louisville, where she went in 1995 as a member of the state Dairy Bowl team. She placed ninth individually at the Maryland Dairy Bowl contest, and third in the Maryland Junior Dairyman contest.

She also tasted success last year in fitting and showing with some of her Jerseys, taking a Reserve Champion ribbon at the Hereford Fair, and also a second place at the state level in Timonium. She took home top honors in Baltimore County's Junior Herdsmanship contest last year, and won a Holstein youth award for senior youth at the county level. Another of Sarah's achievements is holding the position of secretary of the Hereford FFA Chapter. She attended the state FFA convention as a Baltimore County delegate.

The Hereford High School Junior lives next door to her grandfather's Greenland Farm, where she has been very active milking, feeding, caring for calves, and helping with the har-

Kimberton Community Fair Glimpses

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

KIMBERTON (Chester Co.) — From July 22 through 27, Kimberton Community Fair attracted thousands of people. Exhibitors came to show off the results of months of pampering their cows, sheep, goats, pigs, rabbits and other animals.

Ribbons, trophies, and the judge's praise brought estatic joy to the champion exhibitors and some disappointment to those who didn't collect visible evidence for their efforts.

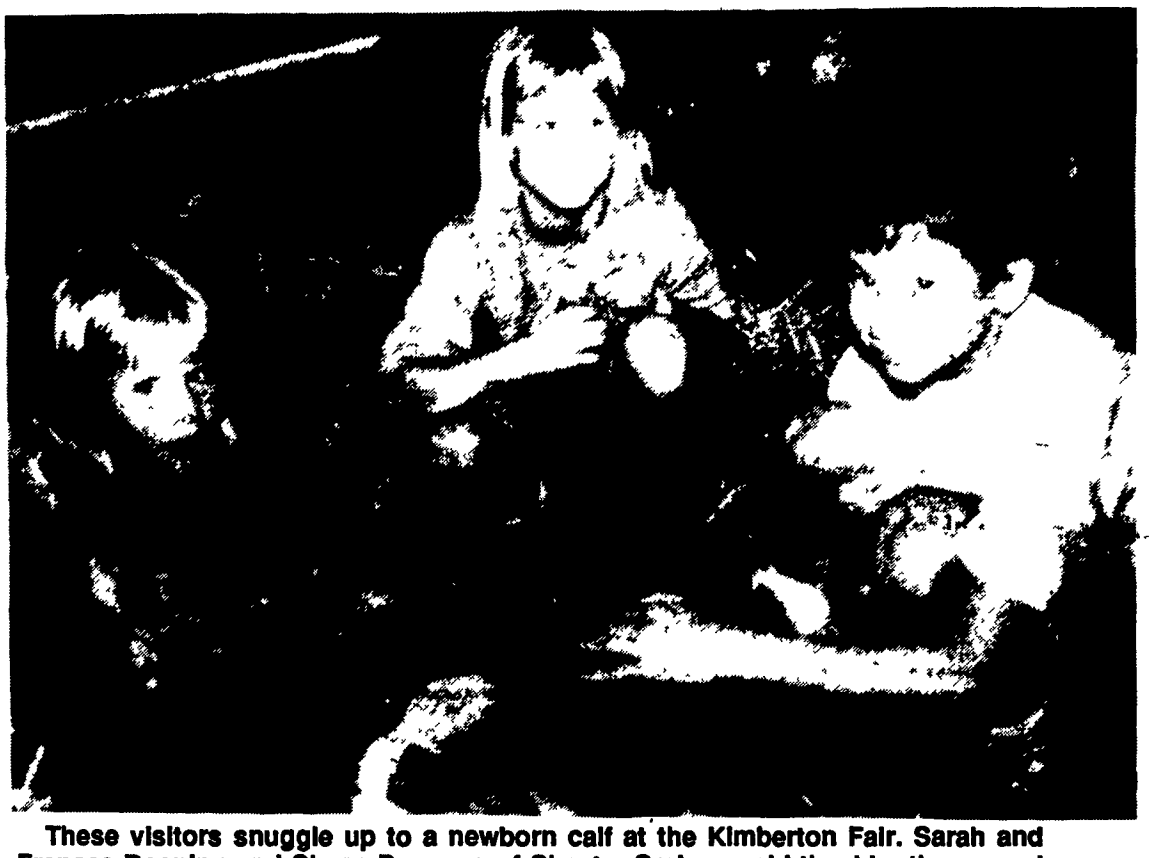
Parents brought their children for the opportunity to admire a cow up close, to pet a goat, and to hear the baa of a sheep.

Vendors hawking everything from the perennial favorite greasy French fries to healthful cabbage rolls wooed the fair goers to spend lots of cash. According to the crowds lined up at the Chester County Dairy Promotion and from those wandering around the fairgrounds licking ice cream cones and slurping milkshakes, it was evident that dairy farmers' products haven't lost its appeal to those of all ages.

A lot of behind the scenes work is required for a fair to run smoothly. Volunteers generously donated time and talent at Kimberton Community Fair. Volunteers, exhibitors, and visitors all played a part in the success of Kimberton Community Fair. Here are some glimpses from the fair.

"Cows are the best," proclaims 3-year-old Alex Gardner who attends the Kimberton Fair with his mom Kim Huntzinger and grandparents Gary and Kathy Rhodenbaugh.

Kimberton Fair means family fun for these Ayrshire exhibitors. Edward and Kay Kulp from Eureka Farm in Pottstown with 16-month-old Aaron, Kelly, 3, Kaitlyn, 4, nieces Sarah Kulp, 12, and Jamie Essick, 14, collected a string of blue ribbons and a champion trophy for the 12 cows they brought from their herd of 125.



These visitors snuggle up to a newborn calf at the Kimberton Fair. Sarah and Frances Boening and Chase Demarzo of Chester Springs said they'd rather spend time with the animals than go on the rides at the fair.

Like many parents, Leon and Laurie Hiltebeitel believe the fair is the best place to show children the farm animals. With 2-year-old son Zachary are his parents and grandparents Donna and Nelson Hiltebeitel of Pottstown.

From left, showmanship and fitting honors went to Becky Baily, 8-11-year-old division. In the 12-14-year-old division, Vicky Hewitt was fitting champion and Julie Sollenberger was showmanship champion. Tarik Gaffney was champion in both showmanship and fitting in the division for exhibitors 15 and over.

vesting for the past eight years. The milking herd of 78 cows was sold around Easter of this year. Her grandfather, Arthur Tracey, also rents the home and acreage where Sarah lives to raise replacement heifers on. In addition to her work at home, the energetic 15-year-old has worked part time at another local dairy farm.

Jessica Fritz, the Carroll County Dairy Princess, was selected as this year's Alternate Maryland Dairy Princess. Jessica has been a dairy maid for two years, and is active in the Junior Holstein Association, dairy bowl, FFA, and exhibiting Holstein cattle. She is president of the Carroll County Dairy Club.

The daughter of Daniel and Sharon Fritz of New Windsor, Jessica just recently returned from a three-week trip to Europe as a member of the national champion Maryland 4-H Dairy Judging team. She is a National Honor Society member, and plans to attend a four-year college and study dairy science or agriculture communications.

A fundraising auction during the evening netted $575 for the Dairy Princess program. Three items went on the auction block: a handpainted milk can, a baseball autographed by Cal "The Milman" Ripkin Jr., and a crystal vase of roses. Denny Remsburg served as auctioneer.

Judges for the pageant included June Sekoll, of Culpeper, V A, editor of Farm Chronicle; Nina Burdette, a farm wife from Mercersburg; and Dave Paddon, National Holstein field representative for Western New York and Southern PA.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Some summers are dry but so far this year we have had plenty of rain. In fact, we've had so much that my garden vegetables are much larger than usual.

I've given away a dozen large heads of cabbage. The bean stalks are enormous and toppled out of their rows. The one item that is really too prolific is the roly-poly zucchini that I got from Burpee. I've given away these round green and white squash and still have too many for myself.

The damp soil is good for starting a new row of strawberries and the sweet potato plants are growing fine. Even the edible soybean plants are quite big compared to last year when a groundhog kept nibbling them down to the ground.

Talking about rain, last week my husband and I decided to spend two days at our camper on Jack's Mountain. We took the boat out on the nearby lake and fished all afternoon in an off and on drizzle. Actually, we did not get very wet as we had taken jackets along with us. Later, Allen slept on the life preservers while I caught seven pan fish. We had the large lake to ourselves until evening. That night it really rained and it sounded like rain on a tin roof as I remember from my youth. So, we packed up and came home earlier than planned.

Some hay in the meadow beside our house has been laying too long due to the weather. There is alfalfa to be put in the silo too but we need better weather. When it is dry we complain and when it is too wet we don't like that either.

Southeastern Region Honors Outstanding 4-H Teens

BETHLEHEM (Lehigh Co.) — On July 10 at Moravian College in Bethlehem, the Southeast Region hosted the 4-H Fashion Revue with winners being selected in two age group categories. Senior winners will advance to a state level competition in State College on August 7.

Being judged on their garment's design, fit, and construction, and their personal presentation skills, the following seniors were selected as gold winners: Kristin Mattern, Lehigh County; Becky Hague, Cayce Bean, Tori Myers, and Karina Price all of Montgomery County; Rachel Welsh, Bucks County; Laura Peiffer, Schuylkill County; and Dana Schrantz, Northampton County.

Runners-up in the senior category were: Amy Lenhart and Kari Baker of Lehigh County; Oralyn Folk, Berks County ; and Sarah Geiger, Northampton County. Senior participants need to be at least 13 years of age.

Junior 4-H'ers participated in the 12 and under category. The top-scoring participants in this category were Ellen Nave, Montgomery County; Michelle Brown and Kara Brown, Chester County; Jenny Lenhart, Lehigh County; Shelly Kneebone, Jessica Knitter, and Sarah Blackadar all from Northampton County; and Amanda Gauker, Berks County.

Earlier in the day, participants were greeted by state senator, Joe Uliana of the 18th state senatorial district. As a part of the day's activities, 4-H'ers constructed a puppet stage and created a variety of puppets to donate to an intergenerational agency in Easton — Third Street Alliance.

Pennsylvania Tomatoes Ripen

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania's fresh picked, field ripened tomato crop is late like the rest of the state's vegetable crops. Growers across the state are expecting to start harvesting in earnest towards the end of July, about a week later than normal. Pennsylvania tomatoes will be available in farmers' markets, roadside stands, and supermarkets into October.

"Tomatoes are an important Pennsylvania vegetable crop," according to Fred Funk, a Lancaster County grower and chairman of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Marketing and Research Program. Pennsylvania's fresh market tomato crop is grown on more than 4,000 acres. Another 1,500 acres are used to grow tomatoes for food processors for use in several brands of tomato products. In addition, about 40 acres of Pennsylvania greenhouses produce tomatoes during the spring and fall months when they cannot be grown in the field.

Those acreages rank Pennsylvania fifth nationally in the production of processing tomatoes and seventh in the production of fresh market tomatoes. In number of acres, tomatoes trail potatoes, sweet corn and snap beans as a leading Pennsylvania vegetable crop. However, they are third in terms of value.

Pennsylvania growers use various cultural techniques to produce tomatoes early in the season when consumers are anxiously awaiting the flavor of home-grown tomatoes. Some growers put small individual caps over each plant to guard it from late spring frosts and capture extra warmth from the early season sun. Recently plastic caps that are filled with water have been developed. The water absorbs heat from the sun during the day and holds it during the night to promote early growth of the tomato plant and provide extra frost protection.

Other growers utilize plastic mulch and plastic tunnels to pus their tomator crops for early production. The tunnels may be just 2 to 3 feet high covering one row or high enough to walk in covering several rows. The latter are referred to as high tunnels and are essentially temporary greenhouses erected in the field until warmer weather comes. They all work to bring on that first batch of red ripe tomatoes just a little bit sooner when the market is better.

Tomatoes have a history of provoking controversy. Introduced to Europe from the Americas by Spanish explorers, they were commonly considered poisonous by both Europeans and Americans. Indeed they are members of the same family as nightshade, a weed that produces poisonous berries. But they share that deadly relative with several other well-known vegetable cousins, namely potatoes, peppers and eggplant.

According to the Wellness Encyclopedia of Food and Nutrition (University of California at Berkley-Health Letter Associates), it was not until the 19th century that tomatoes were commonly eaten, but then only after being thoroughly cooked. Europeans and Americans did not eat them raw until the end of that century. Today tomatoes (if both fresh and processed forms are considered) are second only to potatoes as the most popular vegetable in the average American's diet.

Not only did it take centuries for tomatoes to earn their place on the dinner plate, they have been the subject of numerous debates over their status as a vegetable or as a fruit. Supposedly the question was settled by the United States Supreme Court back in 1893 when they determined that tomatoes are vegetables in a tariff dispute case. To a botanist, however, they are without question a fruit — a berry to be specific — because they are the developed ovary of the flower containing matured seeds. But in the produce trade and on the table they are considered a vegetable, probably because they lack the sweetness usually associated with fruits.

Despite its popularity with Americans year round, tomatoes also often bear the brunt of consumer wrath over their lack of taste. Tomatoes available during the winter months have gained a reputation for their lack of flavor compared to their summer-time cousins. Without question, a tomato ripened to a red color on the vine will have a superior taste. Pennsylvanians are fortunate to have a ready supply of these home-grown treats available at farmers' markets and roadside markets across the Commonwealth.

Tomatoes that must be shipped, however, must be harvested before they are fully ripe. These tomatoes can develop an appetizing flavor and texture if two basic conditions are met. First, the tomatoes must not be refrigerated. They should be stored at room temperature or at least above 55 degrees F. Unripe tomatoes that have been subjected to temperatures below this level will never ripen satisfactorily.

The second condition is patience. Tomatoes that are on the pink side need to wait a day or more to develop a deep red color (and the desired tomato flavor). They should also soften slightly. Only when they have fully ripened like this should they be refrigerated and only if necessary. Refrigerated tomatoes will have a better eating flavor if they are allowed to warm to room temperature before serving.

Fettuccine with Fresh Tomato and Basil

6 ounces fettuccine noodles or 2 cups dried medium egg noodles
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 cloves garlilc, finely chopped
4 tomatoes, diced
½ teaspoon dried basil or 2 tablespoons chopped fresh
Pinch granulated sugar
¼ cup chopped fresh parsley
Salt and freshly ground pepper
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

In large pot of boiling water, cook noodles until al dente (tender but firm). Meanwhile, in heavy skillet, heat oil over medium heat; stir in garlic, tomatoes, basil, and sugar and cook for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add parsley, and salt and pepper to taste.

Drain noodles. Toss with tomato mixture and Parmesan. (If sauce is too thick, add a few spoonfuls of pasta cooking liquid.) Pass extra Parmesan. Makes 2 main course servings, 4 appetizer or side-dish servings.

Quick Buying Tips for Fresh Grown Tomatoes

- Tomatoes must ripen to a deep, rich red color to achieve their best flavor.
- Ripen pink tomatoes at 60 degrees - 70 degrees Fahrenheit in an open area with good air circulation.
- Never refrigerate tomatoes until they are red and fully ripened.

Teachers Taught How To Incorporate Ag In The Classroom

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

"You can see the kids enjoy what they're doing. It shows on their faces," commented one suburban teacher at Penn State's Ag Arena recently. Nearly 100 teachers took part in the Ag in the Classroom program and spent two hours on Saturday at the Ag Arena meeting — up close and personal — all types of farm animals.

"A lot of these people have not had any experience at all being around a farm animal or a livestock species, and we felt before they could go back to the classroom and teach about it, they needed to be exposed and have the experience themselves," Carrie Stufft said about why she planned this event for the teachers.

A third-grade teacher at East Derry Elementary School in the Mifflin County School District, Stufft attended Ag in the Classroom three years ago and returned these past two years as a presenter.

"In the past, I did as much as I could in an hour's time to educate them about how important animal agriculture is and how it's a vital role in their daily lives — so they could take that back to their classrooms. Now this year, I've taken the extra step and brought the animals to them so they could be exposed to them."

Stufft asked 21 4-H and FFA students from Mifflin County to transport their projects and to station them separately around the arena. Overall, the teachers saw a beef steer, a pig, a sheep, a horse, a goat, a fawn, two dairy cows and nine different breeds of rabbits. The teachers divided into groups of 12, then rotated from station to station every 15 minutes to learn. While most 4-H'ers and FFAers don't hesitate to talk about their animals, most of these students jumped at the chance to do something they rarely get to do — to teach teachers.

"It's a good program," said Matt Kline, an 8-year veteran of both 4-H and FFA. "Many have never had the chance to see and be with agricultural animals."

Matt, from McVeytown, brought his Holstein while Chris Uhland, of Ferguson Valley and an 11th grader at Lewistown Area High School, presented his Brown Swiss milk cow.

"I wanted to show them my animal and to tell them about her," Chris commented. Both said it was a good experience for them and were pleased with how interested the teachers were in learning about each animal.

"I didn't know deer farms existed," said Sandra Handy, a 6th grade teacher in Lehigh County. "I've been to a dairy farm, but I've never seen a pig up close. I admire the kids. It's a lot of work, but more kids should have this opportunity."

"I am learning a lot," added Suzanne McMullen, a first grade teacher in the same county. "I'm fascinated by the goat! How tame it is and how much affection there for these animals. It's like farmers themselves — the dedication these students show."

While students and teachers (in reversed roles) did their part, parents, leaders and planners milled around enjoying the product of their hard work. In addition to Carrie Stufft, Dr. Don Evans, Carol Ann Gregg, Pat Sueck, and a host of committeepersons worked toward this event.

Dr. Don Evans serves on the board of the Ag Awareness Foundation, the sponsoring group for Ag in the Classroom. Evans is a faculty member in the agricultural and extension education department at Penn State and had served as assistant dean of extension for 10 years.

"The sole purpose is to help people better understand agriculture. Only one percent farm in Pennsylvania today. Our foundation is nonprofit, has a speakers bureau, sponsors the development of videos, submits grants, but Ag in the Classroom is our most active project."

Pat Sueck of York County serves as executive director of the Ag Awareness Foundation. Pat said the sponsorship of teachers for Ag in the Classroom comes from agribusiness, individuals and other organizations. Many farm organizations such as Farm Bureau and the Grange sponsor teachers in their area for Ag in the Classroom. One of two teachers attending this year from Mifflin County had their tuition paid by her school's home and school association. Evans says there are tax credits for donors. At the end of this session, more than 400 teachers will have participated in Ag in the Classroom in the past five years.

Carol Ann Gregg of Grove City, is education coordinator for the Foundation. In her role, she plans what the teachers will eat, where they will stay, how they'll get from point A to point B, and all the other details.

"We provide boxes of materials for teachers to take back to the classrooms — it's ready to use. Teachers also earn graduate credits or in-service credits for their six days here."

The Foundation received a grant to produce a video. Production starts this week in State College. In it, three children, an actress, and a farmer will talk about plants and animals, and farmers as stewards of the land. Teachers who participated in Ag in the Classroom are developing curriculum to supplement it.

WORK WATCH

The Work Watch Is Back!

In the mid-1980's we sold hundreds of work watches to hard-working individuals like yourself who needed an accurate, dependable timepiece. They needed a watch that would withstand the dust, moisture, bumps, and temperatures encountered on the farm, in the orchard, and in the woods. Many who bought the work watch told us it was the best watch they had ever owned. Now, due to the past success and the present need, we are again offering the work watch through Lancaster Farming.

Our work watch has all the features needed to endure the punishment you will put it through. The WATER RESISTANT seal will protect your watch when you irrigate fields, fix broken water systems, get milk splashed on your arm while feeding calves, or walk the fence in the rain, to find out where your cattle are getting out Being SHOCK RESISTANT, your work watch will continue to work when it is slapped by a cow's tail, a falling board, or the belt shield that your arm slams against when your wrench slips off the bolt. While your watch is scraped by branches, rubbed against walls, and knocked against machinery, the low profile, SCRATCH RESISTANT, glass crystal will resist the scratches and cracks that render watches unreadable. Finally, the BATTERY POWERED QUARTZ movement of your work watch is accurate to within 2 minutes per year, and does not need to be wound, meaning that your watch will be on time, all the time, without any effort on your part.

A final proof of the strength of this watch and of its suitability to your needs is the warranty If your work watch stops running within THREE YEARS of the date of purchase, the manufacturer will repair or replace your watch at no charge This is one of the longest warranties in the watch industry. The manufacturer's confidence in this watch means that you can have confidence in its durability and can know that this is the only work watch you will need to buy for the next three years

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

QUESTION — Joseph Frank, Swedesboro, N.J., hopes a reader can help him with a problem with his Black Labrador Fred. In the winter, Fred has a beautiful coat, but as soon as warm weather arrives, he develops rashes, scaly skin, and sores, which are aggravated by his continual scratching and chewing of himself. Frank paid more than $600 to have blood tests to determine what allergies Fred had. Serums were made to innoculate him against these allergies. But this summer, Fred's skin is as bad as ever. If anyone has found a solution to this common complaint about Black Labs, please call Frank (who is at his wit's end) immediately at (609) 467-3560.

QUESTION — Shirley Schwoerer, Wysox, writes that her Springer Spaniel dog has allergies. She wants to know how to give it an oatmeal bath inside because he is scared outside.

QUESTION — Warren Stair of Littlestown would like information on spraying sweet corn for bugs and worms. What type of sprayer is best?

QUESTION — Andrea Bittenbender, Saylorsburg, writes that she inherited her deceased mother-in-law's pressure cooker canner. It has no instructions with it, but is marked "Magic Seal, Supreme Quality, NO 7-21" on the lid. The bottom of the pot has a 21, A, 44 on it. My suggestion is that she contact her local Penn State Cooperative Extension Office where they test pressure canners and are able to give proper instructions. Saylorsburg is in Monroe County and the telephone number for the extension office is (717) 992-7344.

QUESTION — Evan Weidman, Westfield, writes that he has a cast iron sink with enamel inside. It is 13 inches deep, 15 inches wide, and 19 inches long. He would like to know if these sinks are made today and if American Standard or Radiator Standard of Baltimore are still in business.

QUESTION — Sharyn Ziegler, York, is looking for someone to replace the rubber latex body of her 40-year-old doll.

QUESTION — S. Parker, Mohnton, wants to know where to obtain catalogs that list parts for all types of lawn equipment and garden tractors. He repairs them and wants to purchase parts from catalogs.

QUESTION — Sadie Mast, Richfield, would like to know how to make whistles from elderberry branches.

QUESTION — C.M.S. wants to know where to purchase a wooden sign for the lawn painted white, which states "Please Curb Your Dog." These signs are placed on private lawns to curb persons bringing their dogs to do their job on the lawn.

QUESTION — Gregg Wayson, 1421 Governor Bridge Rd., Davidsonville, Md. 21035, wants to find an owner's and a repair manual for a NH 380 2-row forage cutter.

QUESTION — Chuck Savare, Neshanic, N.J., wants to know why chickens eat their own eggs and what can be done to stop it. He has installed slanted nesting boxes without success.

QUESTION — Kathleen Eby, Paradise, wrote and told us that she and her husband are attempting to put together a 1930s-1940s kitchen in their home. They've been lucky in some respects (were able to obtain a stove, refrigerator, and small appliances) but have hit a "road block" on some items that they thought would be easiest to locate. The Ebys are in search of General Electric (GE) glassware or "refrigerator-ware," which are clear glass refrigerator dishes that were available to be used with the Monitor Top Refrigerator. The tops have the GE logo cast in them (at full size, it usually takes up the entire lid). They come in different sizes, most either square or rectangular.

QUESTION — Debra Derstine, Mapleton, wants to purchase an old record of the John F. Kennedy family. She said it was an amusing recording when he was in office. Please respond to her at RD 1 Box 1203, Mapleton, PA 17052.

QUESTION — J. Loren Yoder, Belleville, would like information about three different milk bottles from the following: Weaver's Dairy of Malvern; Spicklers Dairy of Elizabethtown, and Supplee-Sealtest Dairy Products.

QUESTION — A Reinholds reader would like to purchase a used flat beater and 12-quart bowl for a Reynolds Electric Company commercial mixer serial number C37129.

QUESTION — C. Grodmann of New Hampton, N.Y. wants to know where to purchase fast-hitch attachments to an old Farmall C tractor. Contact him at (914) 374-2602.

QUESTION — Bill Sherwood, Beavertown, is looking for a kid's wagon made by Sherwood Company with the name Sherwood printed on the side.

ANSWER — Eva Burrell, Glen Gardner, N.J., wanted a supplier strips of material to use for rugs. Thanks to a reader for writing that B. Levine Textiles, Inc., sells material by the pound. The company is located at 1139 Sumner Ave., Allentown, PA 18102 or call (610) 433-9560.

ANSWER — Thanks to Debbie Burkholder, Denver, who writes that the Columbia reader who wanted to purchase some "Dick," "Jane," and "Sally," readers, can find a series printed by the Gordonville, PA Print Shop, 3119 Irishtown Rd., Gordonville, PA 17529. Most of this reprinted series is from the 1956 edition. Only the three preprimers have colored pictures, the others have black and white pictures.

ANSWER — For Terry Lerew who wanted information on bottle gourds, Arlene Petrizire writes that a wide assortment of sizes and shapes of the gourds ready for painting is available from Homestead Designs, 2826 Old State Rd. 67 W., Martinsville, IN 46151. A catalog is also available from the company.

ANSWER — June Pontius, Sunbury, wanted someone to make for her boy and girl Amish dolls about 20 inches tall. She is also looking for information about ribbon outlets. Thanks to Sue McKinsey, Windsor, who writes that a good ribbon outlet is Columbia Garment Outlet, 340 Union St., Columbia, Pa. or call (717) 684-2306. Thanks to Anna Mae Martin, Ephrata, who writes that she assembles vinyl dolls and dresses them in Amish clothing. She has a 16-inch baby look or a 24-inch youth doll. Call Anna Mae at (717) 733-4263.

Also, Anna Mae writes that Ribbon Factory Outlet is located at 600 N. Brown St., Titusville, Pa. or phone (814) 827-6431.

ANSWER — Mrs. Zimmerman, Manheim, wanted the address of Petals Magazine. Thanks to J. Hibshman for writing that it is 1 Aqueduct Rd., White Plains, NY 10606-1097.

ANSWER — Darlene Shroyer, Hyndman, wants Dash parts for a 1937 Ford 4-door sedan. Bob's Radiator from N.J. suggests she calls Stewart Criswell & Sons from Nottingham. Phone (717) 529-2612.

Onion Eggs

A dozen or more eggs (white ones are preferable)
Dry onion skins (several cups)
White vinegar
Panty hose cut in large enough pieces to wrap each egg individually
Foliage and/or stickers with distinctive shapes
Rubber bands or twist ties
Large saucepan
Vegetable oil (optional)

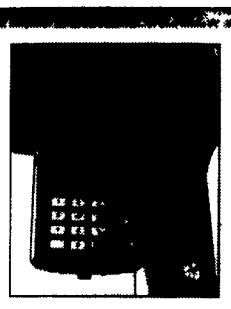
Choose foliage that has very distinctive shapes such as celery tops, parsley, carrot tops and ferns. Press a piece of foliage against uncooked egg and secure in place by wrapping egg with panty hose. Pull hosiery taut so onion skin dye cannot seep under foliage during dyeing process. Secure hosiery with rubber band or twist tie.

Pack bottom of saucepan with several cups onion skins. Place wrapped eggs on top of the skins and cover with water. Add a small amount of white vinegar. Hard-cook eggs with onion skins.

Unwrap eggs and remove foliage. Additional egss can be dyed in the same water. Toss out with the skins; let the water cool, then boil eggs same as before. Stickers can be substituted for foliage. Wrap eggs to hold stickers in place or the cooking process will cause stickers to fall off.

Store eggs in refrigerator when not on display. Use paper towel to rub each egg with a small amount of vegtable to make it shine.

ANSWER — Elsie Forgan, Columbus, N.J., writes that she has many bulbs for achimenes, which had been requested by Peggy Gordon of Sykesville, Md. She would be happy to share the bulbs in the fall or spring when they are dormant. Write to her at 822 N. Island Rd., Columbus, N.J. 08022.



The easy-to-read GreenStar display gives you instantaneous information – bushels per acre, area harvested, crop moisture readings, total weight, and more – plus a special "flagging" feature that lets you mark field variables such as weed patches.

No running around from one supplier to another for advice or support. There's even a toll-free number to call when you need some trouble-shooting. Plus, you'll own all the information you collect.

Capturing this year's site-specific data helps you plan for next year's profits. You can analyze the yields and performance of hybrids, seed rates, fertilizer, chemicals – all of your inputs. Quick-read maps provide precision measurements. Plus, while you're collecting yield data, you can easily flag areas of special concern – exceptionally weedy sections, standpipe locations, and more. Then in the future, you'll be able to fine-tune your inputs on each 1/100th acre.

This Combine Yield-Map System is the first of several GreenStar Precision-Farming Systems. All will be designed, supported, and sold exclusively by John Deere. See your dealer and find out how easily you can begin precision farming this fall by collecting site-specific information with your John Deere Maximizer or CTS Combine.

SHOWRING ETIQUETTE

What is right is often forgotten by what is convenient.

Bodie Thoene

What is showring etiquette?

Etiquette is the form prescribed by custom or authority to be observed in social, official, or professional life. The junior showring has social, official, and professional aspects. The social aspects include visiting with people who have similar interests in animal agriculture and youth development.

The official aspects of the showring would include the formality of judging and decisions made at the time of judging. Lastly, the professional aspects of the showring should include our modes of conduct as judges, exhibitors, parents, and spectators.

Simply stated, showring etiquette is not only the way we should conduct ourselves in the showring, but also the manner with which we conduct ourselves around the showring and at the exhibition.

Decorum is conformity to accepted standards of conduct, including orderliness, good mannerism, civility, politeness, and courteousness. Decency is conformity to standards of taste, propriety, or quality — decency, modesty, properness, honesty, simplicity, uprightness and are acts that are unadulterated, unassuming, unobtrusive, and without ceremony. Dignity is the quality or state of being worthy; the formal reserve of manner or language; respect, regard, distinction, honor, stateliness, and quality.

Why is showring etiquette important? The showring represents one of numerous formal aspects of marketing. The showring encompasses all of the social, official, and professional attributes of the industries of animal agriculture.

Every time we exhibit an animal in a show, we are representing someone or something. A fictitious example: Johnny is a 14 year-old 4-H'er from the Happy Pig 4-H Club in Smalltown, Primary County, Pa. Johnny will be showing a barrow at the state fair.

When Johnny enters the showring, who is he representing? First, Johnny may be representing pork producers, packers, processors, and retailers from across the country who take pride in providing a quality pork product for human consumption, along with providing all of the hog by-products that benefit humankind. As a junior market hog exhibitor, Johnny is "polite" because pork producers expect that of him.

Second, Johnny quite possibly is representing all of the citizens from Primary County, and all of the townspeople from Smalltown. Not just the people involved with agriculture, but Johnny is possibly serving as a role model to other 14 year-olds in the area. As a junior market hog exhibitor, Johnny is "polite" because people from his county and hometown expect that of him.

Third, Johnny is representing his county 4-H program, volunteer leaders, and extension agents, and his fellow 4-H'ers from the Happy Pig 4-H Club. As a junior market hog exhibitor, Johnny is "polite" because people involved with 4-H programs expect that of him.

Fourth, Johnny is representing his family. Johnny's family has provided him the resources necessary to see the swine project through to completion. Johnny is "polite" because his family expects that of him.

Last, and most important, Johnny is representing himself and all of the experiences, contacts, situations, decisions, and judgements that comprise his moral and ethical character. As a junior market hog exhibitor, Johnny is "polite" because Johnny expects that of himself!

Showring Etiquette For Exhibitors

Are there rules of conduct for junior exhibitors in the showring? What do you expect of other youth when they exhibit livestock at a show?

What was the "polite" to which I kept referring?

As prefaced previously, the primary rule of conduct for exhibitors at a junior show is quite simply: BE POLITE!

- P — Professional. Remember who you are representing and what they expect!
- O — Orderly. Plan accordingly. Never approach a show in haphazard manner. Be courteous to fellow exhibitors!
- L — Law abiding. Rules, regulations, deadlines, and laws are for everyone's benefit. Adhere to the rules and be honest!
- I — Interested. If you're not interested in what is happening, don't show. You rarely get a second chance to make a first impression, so always show your animal to its best advantage with the best of your ability.
- T — Timely. Know where to be and when and then be there on time!
- E — Enthusiastic. Take pride in what you are doing. Approach the task of exhibiting an animal with enthusiasm, and have fun!

Showring Etiquette For Parents

This may seem a rather brash statement, but I believe it is true. If we are going to apply certain rules and standards of conduct for young people who participate in junior livestock shows, then we should expect certain behaviors from adults who attend and support these same shows.

I came across an interesting list of items that pertain to all of us as enthusiasts of junior livestock shows. The list appeared in the Chautauqua County, N.Y., fair premium list for 1996. As I read the list of commandments, I soon realized that this list should be reprinted in its original form in this article.

Here are the "Ten Commandments For Parents of Youngsters Showing Animals" written by Clyde D. Lane, Jr.:

1. Thou shalt not feed, and care for the animal, for thou art trying to teach the child responsibility.
2. Thou shalt forgive a child for making mistakes in the show ring, for thou hath made mistakes, too.
3. Thou shalt not get mad when thy children forget items in the show box, for one day thou may forget the show box.
4. Thou shalt help the show management, for they are doing a job that thou would not want to do.
5. Thou shalt see that the child is on time for all show activities, for thou would not want to wait on another.
6. Thou shalt be sure that the child has animals entered and registration papers in order by the designated time.
7. Thou shalt teach the child that while winning a blue ribbon is a desirable goal, making friends along the way is a more worthy goal.
8. Thou shalt not complain about the judge, for it is his opinion that has been sought.
9. Thou shalt remember that livestock projects are teaching projects, not necessarily money-making projects.
10. Thou shalt remember that the livestock project is a family project that shall be enjoyed and supported by the entire family.

Not only does the child and his or her project reflect on parents and the family, but the words and actions of parents and adults reflect on the family as well.

Furthermore, the words and actions of adults serve as examples from which young people may learn, both positive and negative.

Overall, our junior livestock shows should be social, official and professional, keeping in mind the three Ds of showring etiquette. Our conduct in and around the showring should be "polite" and accurately reflect our six core values for junior livestock programs and shows: trustworthiness, respect, responsibility, fairness, caring, and citizenship.

Pennfield Announces Feed Marketers

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Pennfield Feeds has announced that Robert (Bob) Buehler has joined the Pennfield Feed Marketing sales team.

Buehler joined Pennfield as the southern regional manager of feed marketing. He will be overseeing the dairy operations in Maryland and parts of southern Pennsylvania. He will also be in charge of development and expansion of the horse feed business.

Aaron Sanders, a graduate of the University of Maryland with a bachelor's in animal science and A.I. certified, will work as a dairy consultant in Frederick County, Maryland. Prior to his move to join Pennfield, he was a partner in a 350-head dairy located in Idaho.

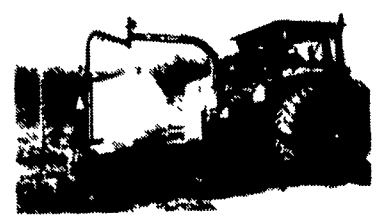
Hesston Puts Wrap On Baling Needs

ATLANTA, Ga. — In response to the move to baling silage, or high moisture crop, Hesston® is expanding its hay systems to include the BW 40 and BW 45 bale wrappers.

Baling silage is gaining popularity because it improves efficiency, provides greater flexibility in dealing with weather, and can enhance nutritional value of feed.

"The introduction of these two models recognizes the trends in the hay business," said Ron Hess, Hesston general marketing manager. "Hesston wants to satisfy all of the farmer's haying needs and the bale wrapper is simply an extension of our current product lineup."

Both models can handle either a round or square bale with a diameter/length of five feet and weighing up to 2,600 pounds. The more economical BW 40 features a rotating platform on a three-point mounted frame. The operator uses the tractor's hyrdraulics to perform all tasks.



In response to the move to baling silage, or high moisture crop, Hesston® is expanding its hay systems to include the BW 40 and BW 45 bale wrappers.

A set of four rollers on the platform cradles the bale and turns it smoothly for an even wrap. As the table rotates, the plastic film is applied up to 22 revolutions per minute. Once completed, the platform tips, and the bale gently rolls onto the ground.

The self-loading BW 45 features a stationary platform with rotating rollers. As the bale turns on the rollers, a rotating arm circles the bale to tightly seal it in film. A programmable control unit on the BW 45 allows the operator to wrap each bale the same number of times with equal overlap. The control unit also displays the number of bales wrapped, the revolutions per minute of the wrapping arm, and other functions of the machine.

Zetor Tractor Celebrates Anniversary

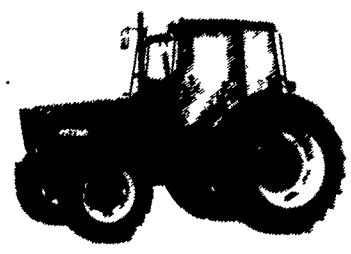
STONE HARBOR, N.J. — In just half a century Zetor has earned the respect of the whole word for its innovative tractor designs and unique production capabilities.

Zetor tractors are acclaimed by farmers on five continents, earning applause for their affordable pricing as much as for their high quality standards.

In August 1946, just 50 years ago, the tractor Model 25A was born in the new Czech Republic by Zbrojovka Brno, a major engineering company. The tractor was christened Zetor, coined by joining the letter Z or Zet in the Czech alphabet and the last two letters in the word tractor ... Zetor.

From its inception in 1946, Zetor's manufacturing commitment was based on a concept of "high-quality at affordable prices," a unique philosophy for its time and, still, a viable ethic in today's aggressive business climate. Yet despite its worldwide success, Zetor did not aggressively enter the U.S. tractor market until 1984, when American Jawa, Ltd., a subsidiary of Motokov a.s. (a major Czech export/import organization) initiated distribution of Zetor tractors. American Jawa's management corporation established a sales and marketing structure under the experienced leadership of General Sales Manager Marvin Brown, formerly on the sales management team of International Harvester.

Within the year's end of 1984, Zetor had established a unified regional management team, a strong dealer organization and an aggressive consumer and trade advertising campaign, which amplified quality tractors at affordable prices, delivering sales in the U.S. equal to that of many long standing European countries.



Zetor Tractor Model 10540 delivers 103HP.

In addition to enjoying sales increases in excess of 100 percent per year, 1984 through 1987, American Jawa, Ltd. has continued to increase Zetor's penetration in the United States marketplace and now boasts a secure base of several hundred dealers in 48 states. Through the years, continuing upward sales have made the United States one of Zetor's strongest world markets.

The year 1995 saw the introduction of the Zetor-Power concept which emphasized performance and extra safety because of Zetor's exclusive heavy weight cast iron chassis that extended balanced power-to-weight ratio delivering more thrust with less horsepower. Zetor's classic example of the Ultimate Power Tool, Model 10540, produces 103HP and includes features such as front and rear wipers, entrance from both sides of cab, seat belts and many more comforts.

Case Goes Global With New Web Site

RACINE, Wis. — Case Corporation has announced its presence on the Internet with the launch of a new site on the World Wide Web.

"In this 'Information Age,' this is one way we can make sure our customers are getting the data they need from us to help succeed in their businesses," said James Hatch, Case vice president and chief information officer.

Key features of the Case Web site include on-line and e-mail access to the Case IH and Case used equipment remarketing program , as well as a way of locating the nearest Case IH or Case dealers.

"Our goal was to create a home page that provides relevant, timely information to a broad spectrum of audiences," said Hatch. "We accomplished that in a user-friendly, readily accessible package."

The new site at http://www.casecorp.com welcomes the user with a home page that offers four links through which detailed information about Case and its products can be accessed. The links are Corporate Information, Case IH Agricultural Equipment, Case Construction Equipment, and Case Credit.

The section dedicated to the used equipment remarketing service is available through the Corporate Information, Case IH Agricultural and Case Construction Equipment links. Here, forms to sell or buy used Case IH or Case equipment can be electronically filled out with such information as equipment manufacturer, model, year and price range and e-mailed to Case remarketing personnel. The remarketing team forwards the data to the local dealer who inturn contacts the customer to help arrange the sale or purchase. If there is no local dealer, a member of the remarketing team handles the request personally.

"Every request receives a response," said Hatch. Whether through the dealer or through the Case remarketing team, we make sure every request is processed."

This is also true, Hatch noted, for other e-mail addresses Case posts on its web page, including afs@casecorp.com, the address customers can use to ask questions about Case IH Advanced Farming Systems.

Choosing one of the four links that appear on the home page leads to more in-depth information about Case and its products. By selecting "Corporate Information," the user can browse through recent news releases, portions of the company's annual report and a list of the manufacturing locations.

On each page of the site, a "home" prompt is visible so the user can, at any time and from anywhere within the site, return to the home page.

Marketing Rep Named

BOZEMAN, Mt. — Bob Metzger, Lester, Iowa, has reached agreement with the American Simmental Association (ASA) to serve as the organization's Commercial Marketing Representative.

As a Commercial Marketing Representative, his primary focus will be on increasing the awareness and identity of Simmental genetics in the commercial sector through a combination of marketing, promotion and education.

"We are very pleased that Bob Metzger has agreed to serve in this capacity," said Robert Haralson, Atkins, Arkansas, Chairman of the ASA Board of Trustees. Haralson said that Metzger will be working to assist commercial producers in marketing of their feeder and fed cattle. He will work closely with ASA, state Simmental associations and various other cattle groups.

"His long career as a cattle buyer has given him a wealth of experience and knowledge upon which to draw," Haralson said. "We believe that he will prove to be a very valuable resource not only to commercial Simmental and Simbrah producers, but to breeders of registered cattle as well."

Among Metgzer's objectives will be to establish a comprehensive vaccination program, along with a feeder identification system.

ASA is based in Bozeman, Montana, and is responsible for herdbook maintenance and promotion of the Simmental and Simbrah cattle breeds.

New Feed Supplement Available

LEOLA (Lancaster Co.) — Gro-Mor Plant Food Company, Inc. has released a new product which has been getting the attention of many farmers.

Gro-Mor, which provides liquid fertilizers and agronomic services to the farm community of the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic regions, offers the Profit Maker Mineral Supplement, a mineral feed supplement suitable for ruminant animals which contains 55 percent crude protein.

Oswalt Introduces Hay Saw Option For Mixers

FORT ATKINSON, Wis. — J-Star Industries has introduced a new optional "Hay Straw™" Hay Processor for its Oswalt® feed mixer line to meet the need to process bales of long-stemmed hay without other processing equipment.

The new Hay Saw option will quickly process good quality, long stemmed hay into a blended, uniform, highly digestible ration.

The hay straw processor is available on most new Oswalt Models and can also be retrofitted on many existing Oswalt models. Constructed from abrasion resistant steel, Rockwell C40 hardness, the hay saw is installed in a continuous ribbon on the leading edge flighting of the two bottom augers. As hay is pulled into the lower augers, an even sawing action cuts effortlessly through the long stemmed hay. Because it saws as the auger turns, it actually processes hay and other ration feedstuffs with a lot less torque, saving time and fuel.

The hay saw processor is available on most new Oswalt Models and can also be retrofitted on many existing Oswalt models.

By simply regulating the processing time, farmers will have the ability to control the particle length of the ration. (Most dairy operations choose a particle length of approximately 4 inches-6 inches). A farmer only has to add hay bales to the mixer and, in about the time it takes to add other ingredients, hay has been reduced to the desired length.

10 QUALITIES OF A SUCCESSFUL FARM TEAM

Alan W. Strock
Extension Agent
Farm Management

After 17 years of observation, I've concluded few farm teams exhibit all 10 characteristics, but most demonstrate the majority of these characteristics. These qualities remain constant whether the team is all family or not.

Have All Farm Team Members Sharing Common, Known Goals

This is the most critical of all the characteristics, for it is the foundation of the rest.

The farm must have a well-defined mission statement that tells everyone why that farm is in business. When creating the mission statement, include input from all team members. All team members must firmly believe and fully support this statement, and by having contributed they will believe they have some ownership.

All team members know that each one is responsible for quality control, productivity, and profitability.

Exhibit Excellence In Communications

Each employee and especially management are excellent listeners. They care about each other's thoughts and feelings and they know what motivates each other.

Communication is not only from the top down, but from the bottom up. Communication is an ongoing priority and is encouraged both formally and informally. These teams stress communications at all times.

Have Family And Business In Harmony

Team members are active in their church, farm organizations, community and/or social group. They often have a hobby or some other avenue of release from the stress and strain of farming.

They take time out for themselves and their family: vacation, hunting, fishing, bowling, and/or attending a family reunion. Everyone knows their personal worth isn't tied to their farm operation. They realize farming is not merely a way of life, but a way to support their family.

Team members support and encourage their spouse and family members, as well as fellow team members, to maximize the use of their talents. They are not like the family whose wife said "I don't know if I married a farm or a man. Just once I'd like to have a conversation and not talk about the animals, crops, machinery, mortgage, or other farm-related topic."

Are Profitable

The farm sets and meets goals for profitability, livestock and crop production, labor efficiency, cash flow surplus, amount of family withdrawals, and debt retirement. The goals set are specific, measurable, attainable, rewarding and timed (smart). Their progress is monitored regularly.

Remember, you can't make a nonprofitable business profitable by underpaying your employees, especially family labor.

These teams consistently have a higher total farm production output per worker equivalent than the average. They find creative ways to compensate employees and often make use of productivity or quality based incentive plans that benefit both the owner and employee.

Have Shared Responsibility

The team captain defines the responsibilities and the authority of each employee. He defines and explains the "chain of command," or management structure to all employees.

The captain treats employees fairly and doesn't expect them to do something that they themselves wouldn't do. Employees are given more responsibility progressively as they are ready to handle it. The successful team encourages all employees to take training to enhance their abilities, allowing them to share even more of the total responsibility.

Everyone is considered a working manager, not a managed worker. Everyone has the freedom to do their job the way that best suits them and the teams' goals.

Exhibit Leadership

Are very active and probably have leadership roles in their church, farm organizations, and/or community. All members have taken leadership training and take a lead in their given field of production.

Nurture Team-Building

These teams make the most of everyone's God given talents and managerial abilities, and puts them in position to shine and succeed.

They recognize their personal limitations and work to the best of their ability within the framework of their abilities and other assets. Employees are treated fairly both financially and emotionally, yielding little employee turnover.

Have Fun

This could be number one on this list. The team enjoys each other's company. Remember, for many if it's not fun, then nothing else matters.

Have A Network Of 'Experts' That They Resource Regularly

Members don't have an "I know it all" attitude and are eager to ask other people's opinion about their approach to a common problem.

Members have a network of professionals that includes extension agents and specialists, bankers, veterinarians, feed sales representative, crop experts, accountants, and other farmers. Management regularly discusses farm situations with the network, especially when thoroughly researching a major change in their farm business.

Run The Farm Business On Business Principles

Decisions are made predominantly on how it will impact the farm financially, with little emphasis on feelings, traditions, or other nonfinancial considerations.

Teams are always looking to make the operation more energy, investment, and labor efficient. Teams are very aware of marketing and do not produce a commodity that they cannot market.

In summary, a farm that exhibits these 10 characteristics will have an excellent chance of not only surviving, but thriving in the changing business world of the twenty-first century.

The successful farm team realizes that there is no "I" in team and that each member has unique talents and strengths and weaknesses and is of infinite value.

WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS
WARNING! DETERIORATING CONCRETE FROM CORN JUICE!
It's important that you know your silo needs maintenance. Your silo will not fall when it's empty. Please check your silo for damage or check your insurance policy.
Now is the time to check your unloaders, cables and silo walls. Cables should be replaced every 10 years.

"THE NEED FOR QUALITY FEED AND GRAIN STORAGE IS GREATER TODAY THAN AT ANY TIME IN RECENT HISTORY!"

How can we help to make sure that you get a quality corn storage unit constructed before the expected rush in August and September?

Listen to what these farmers from VA say about their switch to a poured concrete silo for their hi-moisture shelled corn storage: "Even during the hottest summer in our memory, the shelled corn from our poured concrete silo has kept its bright yellow color and has not heated. We have the best hi-moisture shelled corn ever."

Milk's got more!

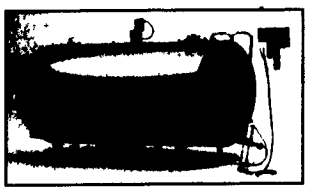
RUFUS BRUBAKER REFRIGERATION

And...

MUELLER
DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31,000	$28,000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17,550	$22,850

Increase Cattle Gains!

TOX-O-WIK® Cattle Oiler and Face Fly Fighter

It keeps cattle comfortable year around and free of weight-robbing insects and disease. It's automatic, trouble-free and rugged. Plus it pays for itself in profits from increased weight gain.

Our special TOX-O-WIK insecticide is compatible with the animals natural body oils, skin and hair and keeps them free of flies, lice, grubs, ticks, mange and pinkeye

- Insecticide tank wick feeds automatically, no valves, jets or pumps to clog
- Mineral feeder
- 1 to 4 applicators per unit
- TOX-O-WIK insecticide is the only insecticide recommended for TOX-O-WIK Cattle Oilers
- Dairy units also available

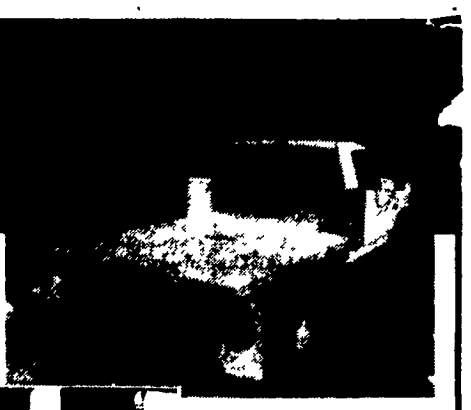
IN ALUMINUM BODIES
EBY BUILDS IT



M.H. Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market. Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24', landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- LANDSCAPE BODIES - Lengths to 12', We'll build to your specs!

Let EBY custom build one for you.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer customer options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business - building bodies to haul it is ours.

DAIRY FARM FOR SALE BY OWNERS

Approximately 165 acres w/ 156 acres tillable, nestled along the back mountain two miles from Belleville in the heart of beautiful Kishacoquillas Valley in Mifflin County, PA.

This farm is fully equipped with 118 free-stalls and a double five milking parlor w/automatic takeoff Westfalia bio-milkers. The milking facility which includes an office, large utility room and spacious milk house is only six years old. Other equipment includes TMR mixer, bunk feeder, conveyors, 20 X 80 and 20 X 50 Harvestores, 20 X 70 Stave silo, Slurrystore w/center agitation, 40' X 50' implement shed and pasture land.

Approximately two-thirds of the land is highly productive Hagerstown silt loam with the balance of the land having very good productivity potential. This farm is conveniently located with easy access and plenty of paved frontage road.

Dwelling is a beautiful, large 2 story, 4 bedroom stone house, recently remodeled to include 2 full baths, mud room, attached garage, large family room, den, separate dining room, walk-in pantry, new roof and zoned oil/hot water heat. Third story large attic has potential for additional living space. This farm is situated in an excellent agricultural area with a minimum of development pressure, which could make it attractive for someone wanting to leave a development area.

WOODS
WOODS - ALLOWAY

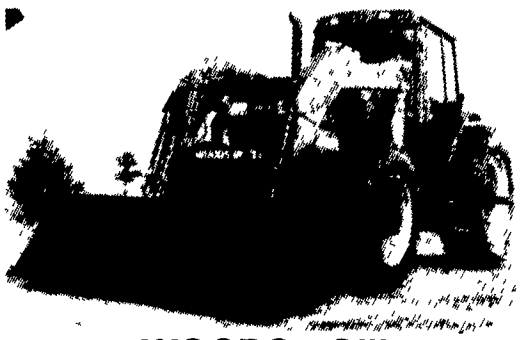
Woods has put together one of the most powerful lineups of mowers, backhoes, loader, scraper, snowblowers blades and other landscaping and light industrial equipment in North America. Since 1947, we've been the first choice of commercial users, farmers and home owners and we're working hard to stay that way.

WOODS Turf Batwing

Available in 12, 15, and 17 foot cutting swaths, the new Woods Turf Batwing finish mower is engineered for high-productivity mowing. We've built the Turf Batwing to deliver years of trouble-free mowing, with a tough three-joint drive line, and long-lasting tapered roller bearings in every wheel, spindle, and gear mechanism.

WOODS - DuAL Loaders

Whether your tractor has two wheel or four wheel drive and falls within the 11 to 200 horsepower range, Woods has a DuAL Loader to fit your needs.

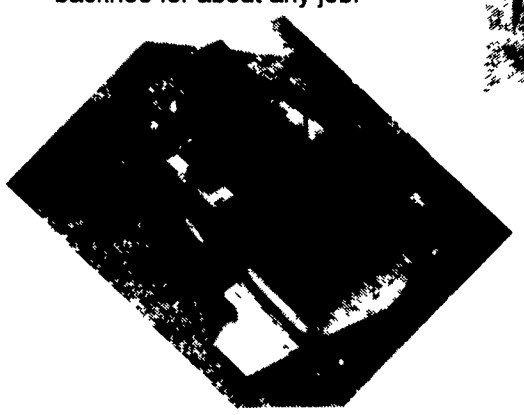


WOODS - Gill Scrapers

Barnyard Scrapers, rollover scrapers, SR-box scrapers, or B-box scrapers, Gill has a scraper for your purpose.

WOODS Backhoes

Backhoes for all types of jobs, from farming, light construction, landscaping, to medium construction, Woods has a backhoe for about any job.



WOODS Mow'n Machine

The ultimate zero-turning productivity tool for turf maintenance. It lets you get around obstacles without reversing and it has a wide three spindle mowing deck low & out front so you can mow under shrubs. Exceptionally comfortable and easy to handle.

Farm Bureau Reaches Membership Goal

ALBANY, N.Y. — With three months remaining in a still energetic membership campaign, the New York Farm Bureau has met its state membership goal — and has no plans on slowing down its membership drive.

According to Farm Bureau Organization Director Fred Perrin, Farm Bureau has broken its membership growth objective before the end of June by bringing in some 3,019 new members for a total membership of 25,766.

Farm Bureau President John Lincoln viewed the successful campaign as Farm Bureau's ability to get its message out to the farming community and the public at large, as well as upon the strong lobbying effort it's given on a number of key legislative issues such as property tax reform and workers' compensation reform.

The success of the membership drive, Lincoln said, has "been in large part successful because of our County Farm Bureau Leaders and our Farm Bureau member volunteers."

For information on joining Farm Bureau, call (518) 436-8495 or write to Organization Department, New York Farm Bureau, PO Box 992, Glenmont, NY 12077-0992.

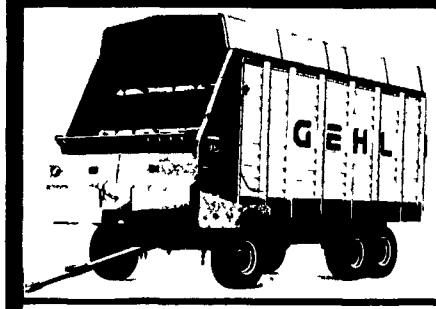
Binkley & Hurst Bros. Is Ready To Deliver A Quality New Gehl Forage Box For Fall Harvesting

YOUR BEST FORAGE BOX VALUE



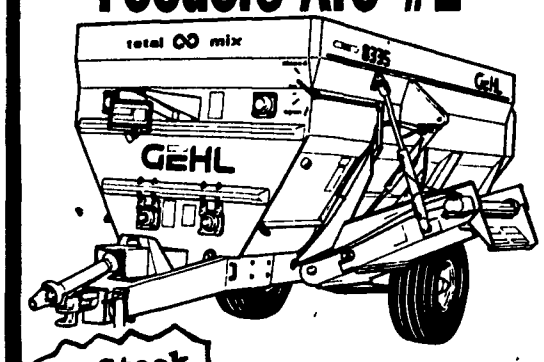
Gehl's new BU980 Self-unloading forage bdx has been redesigned for improved performance and durability. Features include:

- ❒ True variable-speed drive for infinite unloading speeds
- ❒ Single lever control
- ❒ Improved beater design
- ❒ Stronger drive chain and reinforced roof
- ❒ Standard highway light package
- ❒ Optional folding 18-inch conveyor extension

GEHL.

Binkley & Hurst Bros. Inc. has this Quality Gehl Mixer Feeder On Our Lot Ready For Delivery!

Gehl TMR Mixer Feeders Are #1



In Stock Ready For Delivery

GEHL.

Nothing can maximize the return on investment in your dairy or beef feeding operation like a Total Mixed Ration (TMR) feeding system. And nothing makes TMR work better than a Gehl mixer feeder. Here's why:

- Better Mixing Action — Unique four-auger design creates a double figure-8 mixing pattern for fast and complete mixing of all feed ingredients.
- Energy Efficient — Planetary drive system requires less horsepower.
- Built To Last — Patented star couplers absorb shock loads by allowing the bottom augers to flex, providing long service life.
- Six Sizes — From 150 to 500 cubic feet mixing capacities
- Three Styles — Trailer type, stationary and truck-mounted units to fit your operation.

See Us Soon For A Good Deal!

In fact, you'd probably have a hard time convincing Gehl Mix-All® owners to even look at anything else. And why should they?

The Mix-All's big 21-inch wide hammermill features 66 reversible thin hammers that cut, rather than pound the feed to deliver a more consistent grind and ensure uniform mixing for a better feed conversion rate

Gehl's self-contained hydraulic system is designed-in, not added on. It provides the precision of infinitely variable in-feed attachment control to match tractor power for greater grinding capacity. Plus you get fast, smooth, trouble-free unloading with greater reliability

And a wide variety of options and attachments lets you customize your Mix-All to fit any operation

Most Mix-All owners will never buy another.

Gehl has two all new disc mower conditioners to cut your crop down to size, fast and easy. The DC2340 has 7 discs and a 9 foot cutting width, the DC2360 has 8 discs, and a 10½ foot cutting width.

- — Standard hydraulic tongue Makes it easy to position the unit without leaving the tractor seat
- — High speed discs — Each disc has two knives to slice through the toughest crops and conditions the disc gear drive operates in an oil bath for long life.
- — Sturdy frame — Cradles the cutterbar for extra protection and durability
- — 540 and 1000 rpm driveline with equal-angle hitch for smooth power transfer.

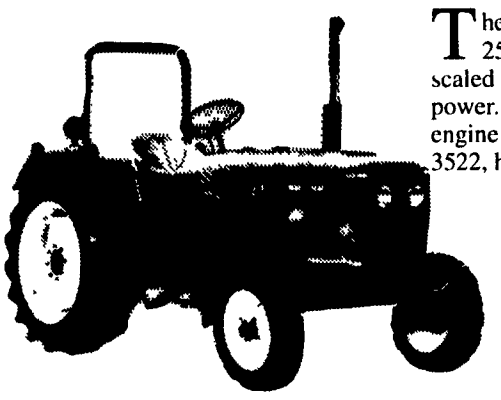
Cut corners on the New Zebra Tractors



The Zebra Tractor Model 2522 is a real tractor scaled down in size, but not in power. Its 25 HP 2 cylinder engine like its big brother the 3522, handles chores a traditional full-size 2 wheel drive tractor handles. For a fraction of the cost. In a fraction of the space.

Zebra tractor model 3522 delivers 35 HP with its 3 cylinder, 143 cu. in. diesel, water-cooled, wet sleeve engine. No toy, this rugged tractor only drives like a sports car.

The 45 HP model 4522 is the Big-boy of the Zebra line of tractors. If the 2522 and 3522 ride like convertibles the 4522 is like a chauffeured limousine, with you at the wheel. So dress for the part, the neighbors are watching.

Large ZETOR Tractors Available from 46 to 103 HP

THE ONLY THING SHAKING IS THE COMPETITION

Introducing Kubota's new Grand L-Series diesel tractors Four compact models with 25 to 37 PTO HP Designed to take on any job that demands power and mobility

Available in 2WD and 4WD, the Grand L-Series features Kubota's new ETVCS diesel engines that run quiet with cleaner emissions Operator friendly with power steering, tilt wheel and enclosed muffler for greater visibility The roomy flat operator's deck is ISO mounted to greatly reduce vibration

The Grand L-Series has a choice of transmissions, the new fully synchronized main transmission with Synchro-Shuttle allowing shifting-on-the-go through the 4 main gears or the new GST (Glide Shift Transmission) which allows shifting-on-the-go through all 8 speeds, both run smoothly and efficiently with the new larger diameter, larger capacity clutch

R42. Engineered For Better Returns.

Just because the R42 is the smallest member of the GLEANER combine family doesn t mean it s small on features In fact the R42 has many of the same traits found in its bigger brothers It just has a smaller bin capacity (170 bushel grain tank to be exact) And it s the perfect companion to the farmer who doesn t need a big combine but still wants the same features as the larger models Take the Natural Flow Harvesting System for example Its unique transverse mount ing cylinder will move your crop in a ribbon like fashion from the concave through the cage So your crop never changes direction giving you higher grain quality The ComforTECH cab has an air ride seat that adapts to your height and weight With lumbar support adjustable arm rests and seat angles which add to its creature comforts And with its 185 hp tur bocharged liquid cooled engine you ll have plenty of power to get the job done To get a closer look at the R42 just stop by and see us We'll be happy to show you how the GLEANER R42 is engineered for better returns

9000 HARVEST GREEN BALER TWINE

Make your twine Harvest Green™.

When you need consistent twine quality from ball to ball, you need Harvest Green™ for "no problem" performance in your baler. Competitively priced, Harvest Green™ baler twine is made from natural sisal fibers, carefully selected to produce tightly wound, quality balls of twine. Each ball of Harvest Green™ is dyed green to signify that it was manufactured under careful quality control procedures for smooth, consistent performance in any properly adjusted baler. It's knot-free, and specially treated to fight rot, mildew and fungus. Whatever brand of baler you operate, including big round balers, there's a Harvest Green™ twine available to help you bale hay or straw economically and efficiently. Ask for Harvest Green™ at your local farm supply center

New Holland Natural Fiber Twine --

Your Natural Choice For Round Or Square Balers

- Uniform thickness- no thicks or thins
- Entirely biodegradable
- Treated for mildew resistance
- Consistent tensile/ knot strength

A bale of New Holland natural twine always contains the exact footage shown on the label This isn't the case with other brands For instance, a bale of twine labeled 7,200 feet by another manufacturer may actually contain only 6,800 feet This kind of inaccuracy could make a big difference in your production costs And in your profits

NEW HOLLAND NATURAL FIBER TWINE

Feet Per Bale	Knot Strength	Gross Weight (Lbs.)	End Use Application	Sale Price!
7,200*	160	40	Square Bale	$20.79 per bale
9,000*	130	40	Square Bale	$20.79 per bale
10,000*	115	40	Square Bale	$20.79 per bale
16,000*	180	40	Round Bale	$22.80 per bale

(tensile strength)

What's the importance of the terms tensile strength and knot strength?

Tensile strength refers to the amount of resistance twine provides before breaking But it's also it's also important to consider a twine s strength That s because when twine is tied into a knot, its strength is reduced by almost 60%

New Holland natural twine has enhanced knot strength because we use only specially selected high tensile strength fibers to provide you with the best possible knot strength New Holland twine comes from Brazilian plantations where the leaves are hand selected and cut from the hardy sisal plant We harvest only the mature leaves at the bottom of the plant because of their longer, and much stronger, fibers This kind of careful attention continues through the entire twine producing process In fact, there are a series of progressive quality controls through the various production stages to ensure twine uniformity and high tensile strength

WIDE CUT-EVEN CONDITIONING

You'll love the wide-cutting performance of the Model 415 Discbine® disc mower-conditioner. Seven discs make an 11-1/2-foot cut through your toughest crops. And with the New Holland torsion-bar roll-pressure system, you get consistent conditioning even in uneven crop conditions. Plus, roll pressure decreases automatically to let slugs pass through.

Stop in and see the big performance of the "415".

NEW HOLLAND

REACH FOR THE SKY!

MAKE SHORT WORK OF TALL SILOS

A large 12" feed auger moves crop to the 60" fan for maximum blowing efficiency. the Model 60 forage blower also features:

- Eight adjustable, replaceable paddles
- Heavy-duty, shearbolt protected PTO
- Reversible blower band
- Adjustable air gate
- 9' telescoping pipe
- Adjustable wheels

So reach for the sky with the Model 60 forage blower. Stop in today and we'll show you how to make short work of tall silos.

PURINA DAIRY HERD PROFILE

"PURINA DELIVERS WHAT THEY PROMISE."

Evergreen Farms is located along Rt. 45 between Pennsylvania Furnace and Seven Stars in Huntingdon County. The R. Wayne Harpster family farms 2,500 acres and milks 1,750 cows. The home farm has been in the family since the 1930s, when they milked Guernseys. But today the new freestall barns and a milking parlor to accommodate 80 cows at one time have made this one of the largest Holstein Dairy herds in Pennsylvania.

The cows are milked three times per day with individual milk weights recorded automatically by computer. In addition, every health and breeding activity is recorded in the computer so that more information on each cow in this large herd is available compared to many smaller herds.

Production averages 72-75 pounds per day at 185 days in milk, and total milk production requires two trailer trucks to haul the milk away.

The feeding program revolves around a TMR mix that utilizes homegrown forages. Protein, energy, and minerals are supplied by Purina Mills, Inc. The herd is divided into eight milking cow rations based on production and stage of lactation and three dry cow rations are used. The 1,500 head of calves and heifers are also raised on Purina programs.

The Harpsters enjoy Purina's farmer-friendly service and the quality of Purina's products and nutrition personnel. They not only use Purina concentrates and complete feeds, but also take advantage of forage testing and veterinary analysis. The Harpsters use forward buying opportunities through the company as well. "Many other companies promise a lot of things," Abe Harpster said. "But Purina delivers what they promise. And if there is a problem, they do everything necessary to make it right. They are price competitive, too."

Even if they have a large herd now, Abe and brothers Aaron and Andy still have visions of the future that will increase the use of present facilities to its maximum of 1,800 milking cows. And while there is no immediate plans, they would consider a second large dairy facility taking shape somewhere on one of their farms.
